Totals Near Exon's: State Budget Is Completed

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

After much sound and fury, but with no substantial changes, the Legislature Friday completed its work on a 1973-74 budget package whose totals closely match those recommended by Gov. J. James Exon.

Their budget work completed, lawmakers adjourned for a four-day recess while legislative technicians prepare dozens of bills — including the budget measures — for final consideration next week.

Left behind at second stage floor position were four tax bills which can be acted upon next week, then submitted to a final vote on the last scheduled day of the 1973 session June 1.

Final Action Hoped
Senators hope to take final action on all other bills next week, thus giving them an opportunity to override any subsequent gubernatorial vetoes June 1.

But the tax bills — which face a series of amendments, including extension of the state sales tax to services and reinstitution of the intangible property tax — could not be enacted in time to give the Legislature the last word on any vetoes.

Friday's final budget action featured a 2½-hour merry-go-round debate which left the capital construction budget bill unaltered and the addition of $287,694 in amendments to the supplemental operational budget bill.

$528,000 Larger
The supplemental proposal, LB582, is now an $895,000 package, some $528,000 larger than the amount proposed by the governor.

Lawmakers earlier approved his original operational budget bill without change.

LB256, the capital construction budget bill, is about $1.4 million lower than the amount recommended by Exon when measured in terms of 1973-74 spending.

Senators have turned the construction proposal into a three-year spending plan whose totals more than double the governor's one-year figure of $22.7 million.

Appropriations Deficit
Also sent on its way to final reading was LB581, Gov. J. James Exon's deficit appropriations proposal for the current fiscal year. It would provide general fund appropriations of $604,663.

Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha triggered a long discussion over the construction bill when he attempted to eliminate 11 floor amendments which had increased 1973-74 spending recommended by the Appropriations Committee by some $3½ million.

At one point, senators voted 25-21 to bring the bill back to second stage floor consideration for his amendments.

Vote Reconsidered
But after a series of huddles in the chamber, lawmakers accepted Sen. John Savage's motion to reconsider that vote on a 26-21 count.

LB256 then moved on its way to final reading on a 25-20 vote.

During the long and testy debate, Sen. Herb Nore of Genoa criticized his colleagues for practicing "pork barrel" with construction amendments, and Proud suggested that the resulting compromises only succeeded in "giving the shaft" to outstate Nebraska.

Sen. Ernest Chambers of Omaha said floor debates have "a therapeutic function" for most senators, but felt compelled later to score initial approval of Proud's motion as the "reprehensible and contemptible" action of a gathering of male chauvinist pigs.

'Wild Kingdom'
Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings said the Legislature often reminds him of the television show entitled "Wild Kingdom."

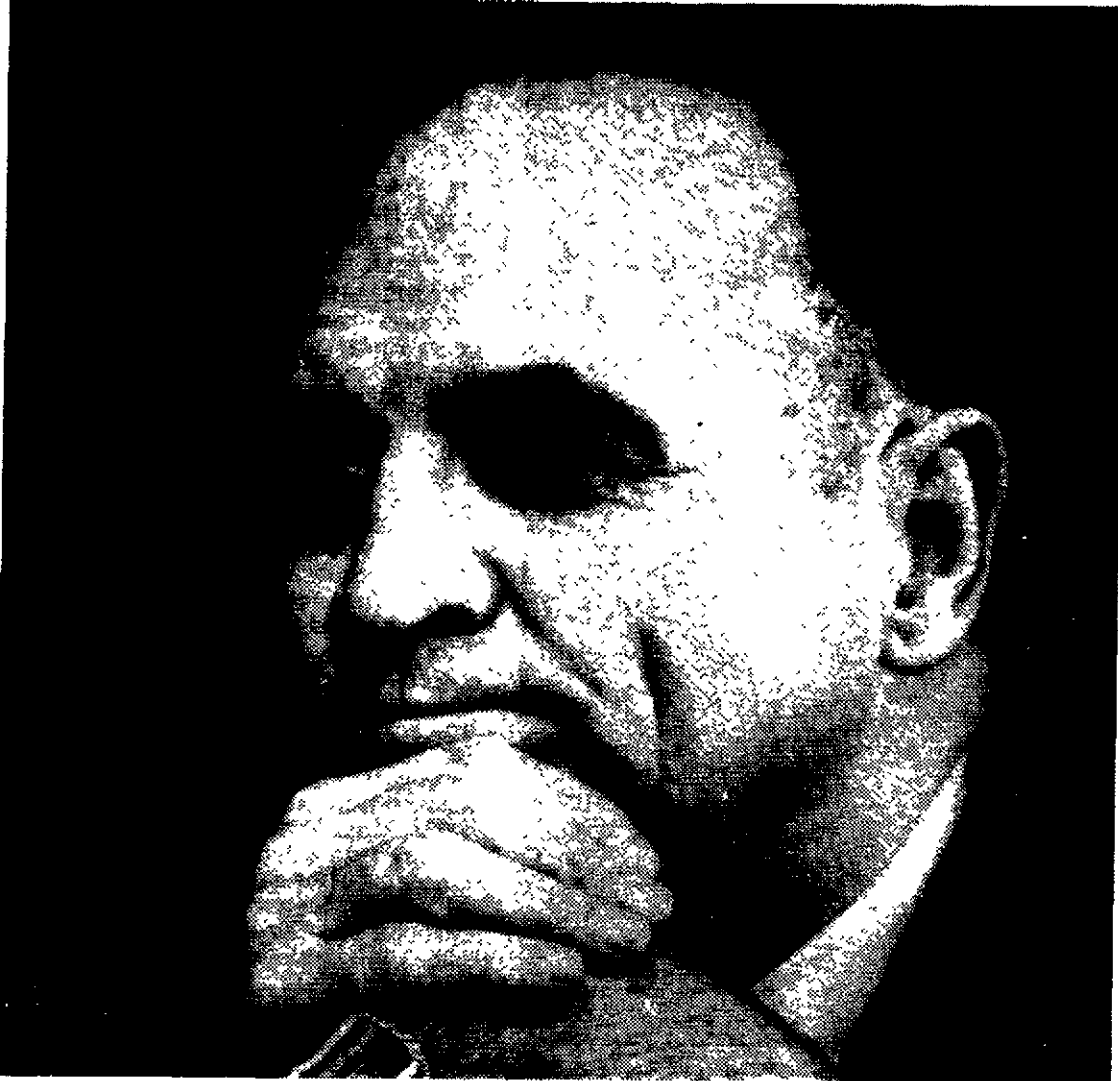

And, in the midst of the raging battle, the cigar of Sen. Jules Burchard of Crofton blew apart with a loud bang, courtesy of Sen. Walter Epke of York who had originally, in vain, targeted the explosive missile for Sen. George Syas of Omaha.

Additions to the supplemental budget bill — $26,694 to the Game and Parks Commission to boost the pay plan grade of state conservation officers, proposed by Sen. Eugene Mahoney of Omaha, adopted 25-7.

— $83,000 for the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry to replace lost federal funds; Sen. Loran Schmit of Bellwood, 26-12.

— $60,000 to help launch the Eastern Nebraska Technical Community College in the Omaha area, Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue, 27-6.

— $118,000 for Wayne State College to pay utilities costs; Sen. John Murphy of South Sioux City, 27-0.

Regents Delay Decision On Med College Abortions

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents, after considering a suggestion to put a halt to NU Medical Center-performed abortions, Friday decided to hold a special meeting on the subject "In the near future."

The lengthy discussion on the subject was prompted when Regent Robert Prokop of Papillion inserted into Medical Center agenda items a motion to "temporarily suspend abortions at the Medical Center until further board action."

His unexpected motion was seconded by Robert Koefoot of Grand Island.

Both regents are medical doctors.

Motion Amended
In a lengthy discussion, the two subsequently amended their motion to permit abortions adjudged necessary to save the life of the mother and to permit abortions already scheduled.

And then, after the board retired to another room for an executive session, Prokop and Koefoot withdrew the motion and announced a special meeting would be held to permit discussion of the matter with Medical Center doctors.

During the discussion, Medical Center Chancellor Robert Sparks urged the board not to take such an action without consulting the doctors involved.

Consult Doctors
He said he believed it would be unwise for the board to take action altering a medical practice without consulting the doctors.

Although he eventually apparently agreed, Koefoot said while he believes it "wrong for the Board of Regents to inform the Medical Center how to practice medicine, I personally believe it's also wrong to practice abortions at the Medical Center."

"The Medical Center is not a mecca for abortions," he said. "It's paid for by taxpayers ... by individuals completely against abortion."

Koefoot said, and Sparks later confirmed, that the Medical Center permits a total of 30 abortions a week, which Koefoot said means the NU facility is doing most of the abortions in the state.

Sparks said later that the limit of 30 was placed on abortions after requests for the procedure increased following the Supreme Court ruling liberalizing abortion.

Formerly 12-14
Prior to that ruling, 12 to 14 abortions were performed each week at the Medical Center under laws which permitted them for such reasons as danger to a mother's life.

Regent J. G. Elliott of Scottsbluff suggested the board needed more information on the matter before abruptly curtailing abortions, and Kermit Wagner of Schuyler suggested appointing a special committee to study the question and return to the board with a report, at a special meeting if necessary.

That was essentially what the board decided to do, announcing a special meeting would be held "so all parties can be present," including Regent Kermit Hansen who is out of the country.

NU President D. B. Varner said following adjournment of the meeting he expected the special session would be held in mid-June.

The board's next regularly scheduled meeting is set for June 23.

Youth in Action

Senior Named 'Outstanding Teen'

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

'Nebraska's Outstanding Teenager'

For Mark Edward Dalka, that's an understatement.

Gov. J. James Exon Thursday presented the 1973 Outstanding Teenager Award to Mark, chosen from among hundreds of students across the state.

Began in 6th Grade

The Pius X senior's forte is music, a career that began in the third grade with drums and switched to trumpet in the sixth.

Although he's participated in sports and consistently qualified for the honor roll with a B-plus average, "it seems like everything I've done has been in music," Mark said.

"It just caught. It came easily. It's something I was good at."

55 Honors

Indeed it is. Of 70 entries on his personal summary of major activities and projects since the ninth grade, 55 of them have been for awards, honors, recognition or participation in music.

Mark's accomplishments seem to defy 24 hours in a day.

He organized a brass ensemble at Pius. He's played first trumpet for the Nebraska Wesleyan University Symphony Orchestra for three years.

He was recently named to "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

He also plays piano and teaches junior high trumpet students.

'Diversified'

"Being a trumpet player, you have to be diversified," Mark said. His versatility has allowed him to play events ranging from weddings to accompanying jazz pianist Dave Brubeck.

But he said his most memorable moment musically came when he was asked to play with the Omaha Symphony Orchestra.

"I was playing with a group of professional men who knew their work. It was tense moment. Everything had to be just perfect."

Favorite Trumpeter

How did he do? "Okay," he shrugged modestly.

"Everything came out okay." He says his favorite trumpeter is Maurice Andre of France, but Mark doesn't try to imitate his style.

"You try to form your own so you have an identity that people can know you by," he explained. "You go to teachers, you get the good ideas that work for you, and you go on to the next one."

Mark has been doing just that for the past four years, with three trumpet teachers at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Attended UNL

In addition, during his senior year at Pius, he took freshman music theory for two semesters at UNL. "I thought I covered everything at Pius that I had to, so they let me go on," Mark said.

However, he said of his mentors, Pius band instructor Phil Murphy and music instructor Mike Veak, "They've both been very instrumental in my success."

Mark plans to attend UNL full time beginning this summer and looks toward a professional career in teaching and playing, probably at college level.

When Mark was chosen last year from among 32,000 high school musicians for the McDonald All-American Band, he was named first chair trumpet.

Asked if that meant he was the best high school trumpeter in America, he replied, "The best? Not yet."

Cox Says He'll Report
Any Nixon Implication

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Archibald Cox, the man chosen Friday as special prosecutor in the Watergate case, said his probe would involve all aspects of the 1972 presidential election and any implication of President Nixon "would be reported."

Cox, a Harvard Law School professor, told a news conference there was a legal question about whether the President should be prosecuted or impeached if he were implicated, but "it would be reported."

He said his investigation would range beyond the break-in at Democratic national headquarters last June to "all offenses arising out of the '72 elections, all allegations involving the President, White House employees or appointees."

Asked how long the investigation would take, Cox said it could last a year, 18 months or more. He noted the Teapot Dome inquiry went on for six years.

"This is a task of tremendous importance," he said. "Somehow we must restore confidence, honor, and integrity in government."

He said he had discussed at great length with Atty. Gen. designate Elliot Richardson the guidelines under which the investigation would be conducted.

Cox said he was satisfied that the guidelines would "permit independence to do the job right. And regardless of anything else, I will be independent."

He said there might be minor changes in the guidelines but they were not important. "All I can do is pledge my best."

Cox said Richardson first suggested to him that he become prosecutor on Wednesday when he was lecturing at the University of California at Berkeley. They had several lengthy telephone conversations about his role.

Asked why he took the job, Cox replied: "It's clearly a challenge ... you do what you can."

He said he was "very hopeful" the issue of executive privilege would not hinder his investigation and that he couldn't foresee any conflict over simultaneous investigations by himself, the Senate and the grand jury.

Cox refused to answer most questions about the substance of the Watergate scandal. "This seems very, very big," Cox said, "but you have to study the evidence before you make comments." He said he may issue statements on the investigation from time to time but was concerned about improper pretrial publicity.

Cox said he had canvassed names of people who might help in his investigation but had not chosen any assistants yet.

Kissinger, Tho Discuss Violations Of Cease-Fire

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger conferred for 3 1/2 hours Friday with Hanoi's Le Duc Tho on the second day of their talks on how to stop violations of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement.

At the end of their meeting, in a villa owned by the French Communist party in suburban Gif-sur-Yvette, President Nixon's security adviser and the North Vietnamese Politburo member agreed to continue the talks Saturday.

North Vietnam's deputy foreign minister, Nguyen Co Thach, second-ranking member of Tho's delegation, told newsmen: "It is too early to say whether there is any progress."

Thach said the two delegations were reviewing all the problems arising out of the nonobservance of the agreement which Kissinger and Tho drafted and initialed last winter. At least three or four more meetings will be required to complete the process, Thach added.

Kissinger and Tho declined to talk to newsmen, but they displayed the same smiles, vigorous handshakes and apparent cordiality that marked their initial five-hour meeting Thursday in an American-owned villa in St. Nom la Breteche.

In accordance with the regular rotation, Saturday's meeting will again be in St. Nom, with Kissinger acting as host.

Before driving to Gif-sur-Yvette, 20 miles southwest of Paris, Kissinger conferred for 90 minutes in the Elysee Palace with President Georges Pompidou.

French sources said the meeting was concerned mainly with preparations for the scheduled summit meeting of Nixon and Pompidou in the Icelandic capital, Reykjavik, on May 31 and June 1.

The sources said they also discussed the proposal for a new Atlantic Charter, grouping the United States, western Europe and Japan, first put forward by Kissinger in a speech to the Associated Press annual meeting on April 23. France has been lukewarm toward the proposal.

Throughout the day, Kissinger refused to talk to newsmen, although he was bombarded with questions whenever he appeared — particularly about his alleged role in wiretapping some of his aides.

Some former staff members of the National Security Council, headed by Kissinger, have alleged that he ordered the phone taps on his own aides. One of the aides concerned, Helmut Sonnenfeldt, newly named undersecretary of the treasury, accompanied Kissinger to the meeting with Pompidou.

ICCS Will Probe Allegations
U.S. Bombing In S. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong announced that the four-nation international peacekeeping force will begin an investigation Saturday into accusations that the United States has resumed air raids in South Vietnam.

At the same time Friday, the four parties to the Paris peace agreement called a meeting in Saigon to discuss procedures for the repatriation of the remains of America's "last POWs," those Americans who died in captivity in North Vietnam and at least one American who was killed when his plane was shot down.

The Saigon command charged that Communist troops had begun shelling the outer defenses of Hue with big Soviet-built 130mm cannon, for the first time since the cease-fire went into effect Jan. 28.

The four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision continued to split along East-West lines, a pattern that has threatened to kill the peacekeeping body, already stymied by the polarization of Canada and Indonesia on one side and Poland and Hungary on the opposite side.

This became more evident Friday when the long-awaited official report of a commission investigating team on a fatal helicopter crash was leaked to newsmen and disclosed that Canadian and Indonesian members stated the aircraft was shot down by Communist fire while Hungarian and Polish members said it crashed accidentally.

Nine persons perished in that April 7 crash, a Canadian, an Indonesian, two Hungarians, two American civilian pilots, a Filipino flight engineer and two Viet Cong liaison officers.

On the investigation into charges of renewed U.S. air attacks in South Vietnam, Capt.

Phuong Nam, chief spokesman for the Viet Cong delegation at the two-party Joint Military Commission, said his delegation would send a five-man team to Bien Hoa to confer with the ICCS regional team there Saturday.

Nam said that after the meeting at Bien Hoa, the ICCS team members and the Viet Cong would fly to Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon to begin the investigation.

Such investigations in the past have been delayed by bickering between the Viet Cong and the Saigon government.

Simplification Sought

Tokyo (AP) — China's Kwangming Daily has resumed a special page devoted to simplifying written words, the news agency Hsinhua reported from Peking. Some Chinese characters have more than 30 strokes.

Law Prof. Cox Named Special Prosecutor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. designate Elliot L. Richardson Friday turned over the prosecution of one of the biggest political scandals in history to a Democrat, Archibald Cox, a former federal official and now a Harvard professor of law.

In naming a Democrat to the post of special prosecutor in the Watergate affair, Richardson satisfied the desires of several key members of the Senate Judiciary Committee which currently is holding hearings on Richardson's own nomination to the attorney general post.

Cox, 61, was solicitor general of the United States from 1961 to 1965 and served in the Justice and Labor Department during World War II. In between, he taught law at Harvard University and now is the Wiston professor of law there.

Richardson, once a student of Cox's, said Cox would have a free hand to choose his own staff from within or outside the Justice Department, but Richardson added that he would "retain ultimate power of removal over the special prosecutor."

Cox will be paid $38,000, and his office will get expense funds.

In the meantime, four former White House aides have been asked to testify before another Senate investigation of the growing web of scandals surrounding the Watergate affair.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., chairman of the appropriations subcommittee on intelligence operation, announced Friday that letters had been sent to H. R. Haldeman, Nixon's former chief of staff; John Ehrlichman, Nixon's former domestic affairs adviser; former White House Counsel John Dean III, and former National Security Council aide David Young.

McClellan said the men would be asked to testify on the Central Intelligence Agency's role in the Watergate burglary and in the burglary of the office of the Los Angeles psychiatrist treating Daniel Ellsberg, one of the defendants in the Pentagon Papers case.

Allegations have been made that the CIA was asked by White House aides to interfere with the FBI's Watergate probe and asked to supply equipment and disguises used in the West Coast burglary.

The hearings would give the four men "the opportunity to appear and respond to the allegations" about their roles, McClellan said.

In a related development, Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said he has obtained 11 "highly significant" CIA memoranda which appear to verify his conclusion that the White House tried to falsely blame the CIA for the Watergate affair.

"It is even more difficult for me to visualize that the President knew nothing about it," said Symington, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The CIA's deputy director, Army Lt. Gen. Vernon A. Walters, has told Symington's committee that Haldeman and Dean intervened directly in attempts to involve the CIA in the Watergate affair.

In other developments Friday: —The special Senate Watergate investigating committee filed an application in federal court asking for immunity for Jeb Stuart Magruder, who was deputy campaign director of the Committee for the Re-election of the President. The Senate committee also asked the court to compel Magruder to testify before the open hearings.

—A federal judge ordered four former White House aides to give testimony in the Democratic National Committee's $3.2 million civil suit against Nixon's re-election committee. Two of the four, Ehrlichman and Haldeman, are scheduled to give depositions Tuesday. Magruder and the re-election committee's scheduling director, Herbert M. Porter, also were ordered to give full depositions at an unspecified time. Dean and another former White House aide, Gordon Strachan, have asked for delays and the judge deferred ruling.

Gold Again Nears
Record Prices

LONDON (AP) — Gold inched back up toward record prices again Friday as one of the world's strangest collections of fat cat investors counted tidy profits.

Only the gold market brings together such profiteers as European capitalists, Soviet and Chinese communists, Arab oil sheiks, and South Africa's white minority regime in the same rich club. All made money this past week, one of the most turbulent in the history of Europe's gold markets.

The only clear loser so far has been the U.S. dollar, which ended the week by declining on most foreign exchange markets.

Gold moved up $1.50 in Zurich and $2.25 in London Friday to close at $105.50 an ounce in both centers. The metal had been declining for the past two days after reaching records of $110.50 an ounce Tuesday.

Everyone who bought gold any time in the last 20 years was sitting on a tidy profit. Worst off were those who bought gold in 1952 at around $35 an ounce and held on. If they sold now they could count on profits of about five per cent a year, probably less than they could have made on the U.S. stock market.

Those who bought gold in 1968 in the $40 range, did much better. They have profits of 20 per cent a year, far better than most investors did on the stock market.

The investors include rich Europeans, international corporations and the Arab oil sheiks who have traditionally held much of their wealth in gold. Perhaps less well known, the Communist Chinese government is also a shrewd gold market player.

The Economist, respected British weekly, estimated that the Chinese bought $285 million worth of gold between 1965 and 1968 and said the hoard was now worth $850 million.

The South Africans and the Russians got into the act as the world's two largest sellers of newly-mined gold. Both got prices for their gold this week approximately twice as high as one year ago.

Gold prices traditionally rise in times of monetary uncertainty. This time, the Watergate scandals have undermined confidence in the U.S. dollar and sparked the gold rise.

European dealers said that when the gold price broke through $100 for the first time Monday, it set off a wave of panic buying that reached $124 an ounce briefly in Paris. Cooler heads prevailed later in the week and the price dropped back again. Gold closed in Paris Friday at $108.80.

Youth Escapes
Recognition
After Heroism

Ardmore, Okla. (AP) — A youth who dashed into a blazing home and carried out an invalid woman disappeared into a crowd of bystanders to avoid recognition.

Officials said the youth braved the fire shortly before midnight when a woman who had been driven back by the heat told him Mrs. Gerther Brown, 65, was inside, unable to get out of bed.

Spokesmen at Ardmore Memorial Hospital said Mrs. Brown was in poor condition with third-degree burns over 70 per cent of her body.

Mazamet, France (AP) — People in downtown Mazamet played dead for 10 minutes for part of a film to dramatize highway deaths in France.

Murder Suspects Are Caught

WELCH, W. Va. (AP) — Led by a lazy-looking bloodhound named Prince, police arrested three murder suspects Friday as they slept under a cliff in the forests of the southern West Virginia coal country.

A fourth fugitive was caught earlier. State police said all four had waived extradition and would be returned immediately to Georgia to face charges in the murder of six members of a farm family.

Apprehended by Virginia and West Virginia officers Friday morning were Carl Isaacs, 19, Wayne Coleman, 26, and Isaacs' half-brother William, 15. The fourth suspect, 35-year-old George Dungee, was caught Thursday night as the fugitives fled from a car near the coal mining community of Yukon.

"They were cooperative and did not resist," said West Virginia State Trooper F. E. Thomas. "They were worn out and apparently suffering from exposure and exhaustion." He said they would be given medical attention.

The men, three of them escapees from a prison work camp in Maryland, were wanted in the murders of five male members of the Alday family of Reynoldsville, Ga., and the rape and murder of the wife of one of the victims.

Budget Confirmation
Bill Vetoed By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon Friday vetoed the bill that would have required Senate confirmation for the director and deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget.

In a message to the Senate, the President said he did not dispute congressional authority to abolish an office such as this or to specify standards for its officials.

"But the power of the Congress to terminate an office cannot be used as a back door method of circumventing the President's power to remove," he said.

The bill passed the House by 229-171 on May 1 and the Senate by 73-19 on May 3.

Under the bill, the jobs of Nixon's top two budget aides—Office of Management and Budget Director Roy Ash and OMB Deputy Director Frederic Malek—would be abolished and new offices of OMB director and deputy director would be set up requiring Senate confirmation of the President's nominees.

Currently, no Senate confirmation is required.

Brezhnev, Brandt Talk

BONN, Germany (AP) — Leonid S. Brezhnev came to Bonn on Friday for his first visit to West Germany and opened talks at once with Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Here for five days of talks on expanding trade and relaxation of cold war tensions, Brezhnev was told by Brandt that they would continue their "dialogue of peace."

The visit, first ever to West Germany by a Soviet leader, put a symbolic end to enmity dating back to World War II, in which millions of Russians and Germans died.

Reading in a heavy Ukrainian accent from his airport statement, 66-year-old Brezhnev said he and Brandt already had laid "a good foundation" for reconciliation in their 1970 non-aggression pact.

"Now it is essential to erect a firm building of good neighborly relations upon this foundation," he added.

Welcoming him, Brandt said Brezhnev's visit confirmed "that things in Europe have taken a turn for the better" after a tragic past.

Glenn Turner, F. Lee Bailey Are Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Florida businessman Glenn W. Turner and attorney F. Lee Bailey were indicted by a federal grand jury Friday on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in connection with the sale of distributorships for three of Turner's firms, the Justice Department said.

The three firms and eight other men also were named in a 28-count indictment returned in U.S. District Court in Orlando, Fla.

The companies, each of which has Turner as chairman of its board, are Kosco Interplanetary Inc., Dare-to-Be-Great Inc., and Glenn W. Turner Enterprises Inc., all with headquarters in Orlando.

Present or former officers, directors or salesmen for the three firms who were indicted were:

Harry B. Atkinson, W. Leroy Beale and Jess O. Hickman, all of Orlando; Ben U. Bunting and Clyde C. Cobb of Maitland, Fla.; Malcolm A. Julian of Fern Park, Fla.; Hobart Wilder of Winter Park, Fla.; and Terrell W. Jones, whose whereabouts was listed as unknown.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If one can measure it by the degree of political pressure involved, the bank satellite bill that is now assured a place in Nebraska law must be lying upon a mountain of money. This is the bill that will permit a bank to provide two facilities in the community away from its main office.

Before passage of this bill, banks could construct one drive-in facility within 2,600 feet of their main office. Now, they will be able to provide two such facilities, one within three miles of the main offices and one anywhere within the community.

The bill was passed by the Legislature, vetoed by Governor Exon and passed by senators over the veto. There simply is no end of the argument over the merits or lack of merit of this legislation.

In the eyes of some, the bill will allow the larger banks to expand and thereby threaten smaller institutions. This leads ultimately to a monopolistic situation that, in the minds of many, is not good for the average person.

Proponents do not argue so much against the effects of the bill as they do the validity of those effects. What they say is that the expansion of banks helps the average person simply by providing better banking service.

Undoubtedly there are situations in which this is true. Bank lending is tied directly to deposits and the greater deposits a bank has, the more money it can loan. Thus, the larger banks can loan more money and serve more people who need credit.

This is especially critical in rural areas of Nebraska where ranching and farming are becoming constantly more sophisticated. Such agriculture is big and complicated business and requires borrowed capital to a degree often beyond the capacity of local banking institutions.

We would rather doubt that this two-facility bill now passed by the Legislature will make much difference in rural banking. Only full-scale branch banking could have an impact upon the rural area and that would mean a bill allowing banks to establish branch facilities anywhere in the state, not just in their own communities.

Some of the rural problem is now being met by affiliate arrangements between small and large town banks. Thus, city deposits already are providing some cushion for loans in rural areas.

The two-facility banking measure would seem to be more confined, although some believe that it will ultimately lead to complete branch banking. But the major question remains one of the big guy gobbling up the little guy, be it within a community or statewide.

Those who are against the growth of bigness are probably fighting a losing cause. Surely, it has been a losing cause down through the years, as can be seen throughout the business life of the nation.

Rural America has been on the decline for years now and there really is no end in sight for it short of ultimate demise. Agriculture, of course, will not disappear from the scene but it will be serviced more and more from larger metropolitan centers.

Small-town banking will eventually take whatever lumps accrue to the other institutions in the small town and the small farmers who surround it. We are not at all enamored of the new banking bill, would just as soon the governor's veto had been sustained, but we are somewhat resigned to what appears to be the inevitable movement of banking toward monopolistic ends.

We only hope it serves the public interest as well as its adherents claim it will.

RICHARD L. WORSNOP Average Security Guard Among Those Underpaid

WASHINGTON — "Watergate Produces One Hero," said the headline in The New York Times of April 28. His name is Frank Wills, the security guard whose call to police led to the arrests of the original Watergate Five. Wills was earning $80 a week at the time. Since then he has changed security jobs and now earns $85 a week.

Wills' low profile and low salary are typical of those engaged in his line of work. In a report submitted last year to the U.S. Law-Enforcement Assistance Administration, the Rand Corporation stated: "The typical private guard is an aging white male, poorly educated, usually untrained, and very poorly paid."

Private security has become a major industry. According to the Rand study, the various firms providing such services employ 250,000 persons and have an aggregate annual income of $2.5 billion. The "big four" — Pinkerton's, Burns, Wackenhut, and Walter Kidde — are believed to account for roughly half of all private-security business.

The civil disorders and soaring crime rates of the late 1960s made the entire nation security-conscious. Burns went from 12,000 employees in 1965 to 38,000 today. Wackenhut, which began in Florida in 1955 with 100 people on its payroll, now has a total force of 16,500.

Performance does not always match demand, however.

"While they are intended to be a deterrent, the guards are often little more than an illusion, for the unarmed rent-a-cops have only the same legal authority to make an arrest as does the private citizen," Michael Satchell observed in the Washington Star-News. "Armed guards with special police commissions do have arrest powers, but only on the property they are paid to protect."

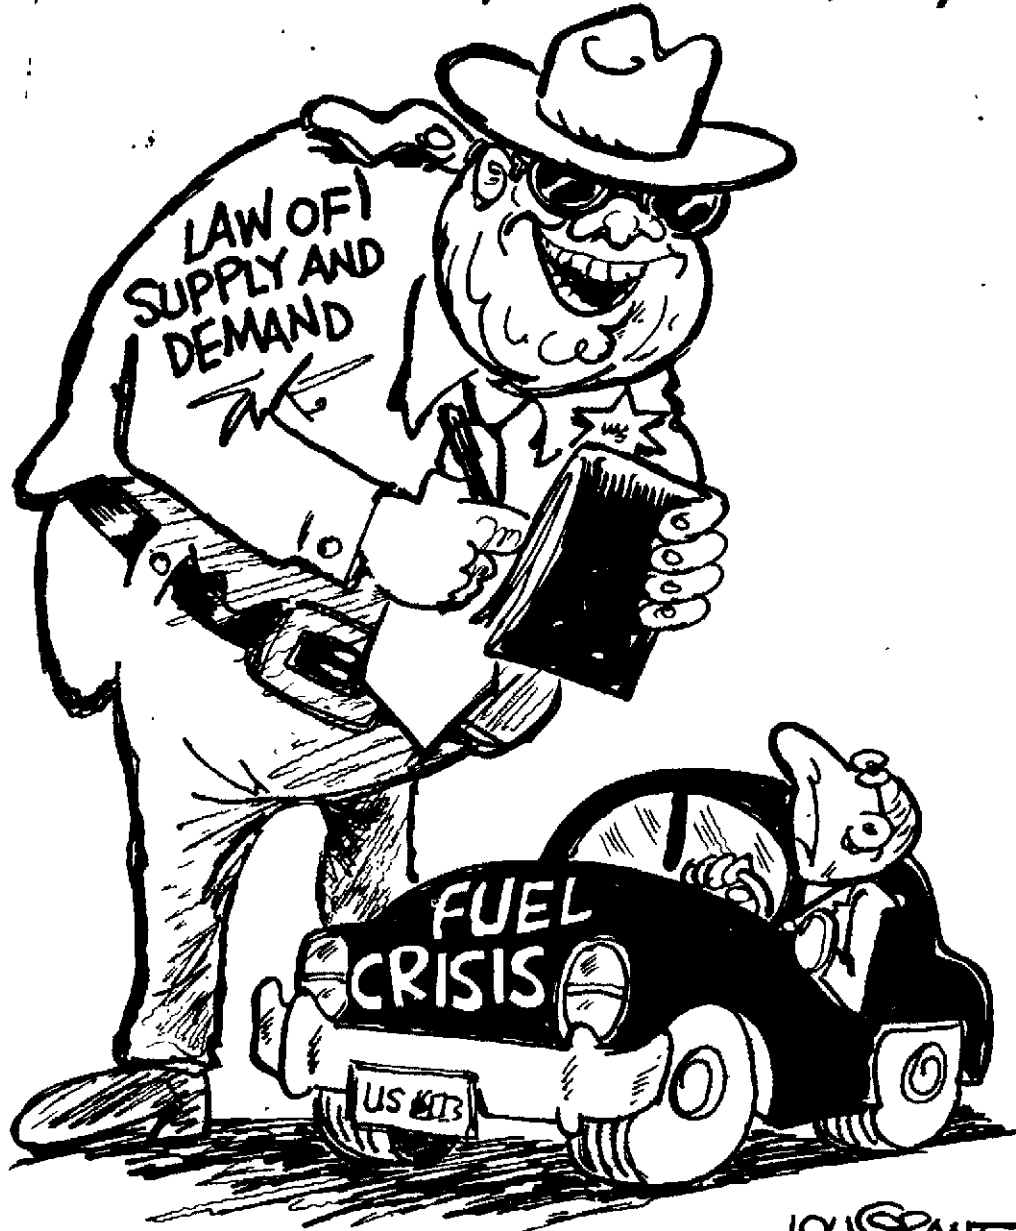

Occasionally, security guards have become involved in crimes. Last month, the owner of a security agency and three of his guards were charged in the holdup of a Virginia restaurant where 25 patrons were robbed of $1,888.

The commonwealth of Virginia ought to shoulder part of the blame for the incident. In that state, as in most others, there are scarcely any regulations governing security firms. The agency whose owner was charged in the holdup had not even bothered to obtain a business permit in either the county or the town where it operated.

Now that private security guards are being posted at major airports, state and local governments may decide to abandon their old laissez faire policy. J. Donald Reilly, executive vice president of the Airport Operators Council International, asserts that "you just can't hire someone, give them a gun, and put them in a crowded terminal."

'You're In A Heap Of Trouble, Boy'

LTS And Fuel Shortage

Continental Oil Co., which supplies diesel fuel for city buses, has restricted the Lincoln Transportation System's purchase of fuel to the same amount allotted last year, the LTS board was informed Thursday. If no additional fuel is obtained, City Finance Director James Mallon said, the buses could run out of fuel in November since they are traveling more miles than last year.

There is an undercurrent of belief, however, that Continental will accede to Mayor Schwartzkopf's request that additional fuel be sold to the city to meet an impending crisis.

That's a heck of a way to have to operate a city bus system — not knowing whether or not there will be enough gas to run the buses through the cold weather and holiday season to the end of the year.

Few people probably know at this point how serious the touted fuel shortage will be or if it is real or artificial. But such indicators as rationing by distributors, skyrocketing prices, shortages to farmers in some areas and retail outlet closings demand a comprehensive national policy of fuel allocation in case the need arises. And such consumers as agriculture and public transportation should be at the top of the priority list.

In an effort to meet a future fuel shortage if it reaches emergency proportions, the LTS board this week recommended that an additional $200,000 be set aside as a contingency fund in the LTS budget for 1973-74. The contingency fund would help defray the rising cost of fuel and could go toward the purchase of new equipment should the fuel shortage reach such crisis proportions that motorists opt to leave their cars at home and ride the buses instead.

The $200,000 was as reasonable as any arbitrary figure to pick, because fuel and equipment requirements can't be forecast when people really don't know what is going to happen. There is the problem, too, that additional equipment to meet rising passenger volumes can't be obtained as quickly as it might be needed. There is a considerable delay from the time equipment is ordered to when it is on the street ready to go.

But at least the LTS board is thinking ahead to what problems a fuel shortage might raise.

The fuel shortage, when and if it comes, would have a desirable side effect, too, if it works toward building the idea among Lincolinites that public transportation is a very good answer to a number of transportation problems. Hypothetically we are arguing that driven to the buses in large numbers because of a fuel shortage, they might decide to stay with the buses once the shortage has passed.

Voters Have Spoken

For the second time in six months, the voters of Omaha Tuesday defeated a proposal to elect city councilmen by districts. The latest test at the polls amounted to an especially emphatic rejection of the district plan.

Lincoln voters, earlier this month, also defeated a similar plan by a healthy margin.

The election results in Omaha and Lincoln should indicate to the Legislature that a substantial majority of the voters residing there don't want anyone tampering with the procedures they use to elect their representatives in city government.

But it would appear from reactions to the votes in the two cities that there are still some state lawmakers who will insist on trying to impose an unwanted system — just as they have attempted to impose it during the past two sessions of the Legislature.

JAMES RESTON

Kissinger And Helms

WASHINGTON — The more you analyze the testimony in the current Watergate scandals, the more you have to wonder about the closed atmosphere or "don't call me" system around the White House in which all these extraordinary events occurred.

H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman were victims of it, both of them described by the President as exemplary public servants, which in his mind they undoubtedly were. But now even Henry Kissinger is charged with dubious conduct, because he too is apparently involved with operating too much within the White House closed-circuit system.

How could Kissinger agree to bugging his own friends and colleagues on the National Security Council staff in the White House, it is asked. And how could Richard Helms, former head of the CIA, allow the agency to be used in a domestic conspiracy, without challenging the White House staff and expressing his doubts and objections directly to the President?

Probably the simplest part of the answer is that the best of men love power and position, and do things or fail to do things that keep them in power, even when they have their own moral doubts.

Kissinger and Helms were never in very close personal relationships with Nixon. They never had great ties of loyalty over so many years, and yet somehow they went along with ambiguous and dubious things that troubled them morally, and they now find themselves in a very awkward position.

One has to be very careful with this delicate discussion of power, ambition, loyalty, and morality. It involves delicate motives and private philosophies and calculations no outsider can possibly know. For example, before he left Washington for Paris to try to save the Vietnam peace agreement, Kissinger made clear to General Haig and others in the White House—one source says also to the President personally—that if his moral authority was in question as a result of his part in the telephone bugs of his own staff, then he would resign at once.

It is hard to see how this would improve any part of this dismal business. Things are bad enough as they are with the critical Brezhnev meeting, and the arms control and SALT talks, the European conference coming up. The atmosphere of the Nixon system is really at the bottom of this whole thing and it has to be understood.

According to FBI sources, the White House, worried about leaks of security information in the newspapers, and even suspicious of Kissinger, who was known to have friends in the press, authorized the taps on the reporters and on Kissinger's staff and then asked him to cooperate in the operation, and talk to the late J. Edgar Hoover about the importance of making the government's communications secure.

Kissinger went along with this. Some reports say he took the lead in it, but either way, in the atmosphere of doubt, suspicion, and even hostility on the Haldeman-Ehrlichman side of the White House, he either had to oppose the bugging, in which case he would have been suspected of trying to cover up his own people, or he had to go along with it, or oppose it on moral grounds and get out.

Maybe he should have gotten out, at least after he had negotiated the cease-fire in Paris, and maybe Dick Helms should have gone to the Presi-

CATHERINE FERGUSON

They Had A Dream

Catherine Ferguson felt a tender compassion for destitute children and out of this New York City's first Sunday school was born.

Katy Ferguson's School for the Poor opened in New York in 1793 in her home on Warren Street. Later, Dr. John M. Mason, a prominent minister, made arrangements for her to use the basement of his Murray Street Church.

This was the beginning of the Murray Street Sabbath School which Katy conducted for more than 40 years.

Katy's concern for the down-trodden sprang from her own sad experiences as a child and from the void left by the death of her own two children. She was born a slave aboard a schooner en route from Virginia to New York. When she was eight, her mother was sold. She never saw her again.

Katy's mistress was kind. She permitted the child a certain degree of freedom and allowed her to attend church services, which perhaps accounted for her later religious devotion. But Katy was still a slave. A sympathetic friend bought her freedom for $200 when Katy was 16.

Two years later Katy married. She bore two children. Both of them died young. From that time on, the kindly woman "put forth pious efforts for the good of bereaved and desolate little ones," early chroniclers wrote.

Throughout her life, Katy attended church services with regularity. In the beginning, it was her practice to gather the neglected children of her neighborhood in her home on Sunday for religious instruction. Out of this practice her school was founded.

Katy collected 48 children from the poorhouse and from destitute parents and raised them or placed them in good homes. She cared little for the color of their skin. Twenty of her initial brood were white.

Katy never learned to read or write. But when her school was moved to the Murray Street Church, assistants given her by Dr. Mason provided secular as well as religious instruction.

Thus Katy's work contributed to the development of free secular education for the poor. For this reason, her name is noted among those considered pioneer educators in America. When she died in 1854, Katy was widely known and respected in New York City.

Later, in tribute to her and in recognition of her early contributions, a home for unwed mothers in New York was named in her honor.

The Katy Ferguson Home was founded in 1920.

Fighting City Hall

Crete, Neb.

I attended my first City Council meeting Tuesday night, May 15. I have always had faith in our city government and felt that they were capable of handling the city's affairs. After what I heard that night, my faith is shaken.

I heard Mayor Buck make two contradictory statements and refuse to answer questions with the sublimity of the Pope on the grounds that "personalities" were involved. He couldn't be more right on that! The present furor in the police force is a direct result of a personality conflict. Two men resigned. One man was reinstated. The other resignation was accepted. Why? Because one man asked for his job back and the other one said he would not come back. What the mayor did not explain was that one man was assured that if he asked for his job back, he would have the mayor's support. The other man was given no such encouragement. Such a little detail, but it does make quite a difference.

Still, why doesn't the mayor just say he is dissatisfied with Chief Cooney's "nice guy" approach and favors Collier's "tough guy" routine? He's entitled to this opinion. It would not gather much favor from the local citizenry, however, who are used to being treated courteously now.

While I was mulling this over, I received another shock. The city attorney was sharply reprimanding an outspoken citizen for voicing his objections in what the city attorney menacingly described as a "hostile" manner. In so many words, he told the man to shut up or else — ending his threat with: "You better believe it!"

The mayor had said we could speak up, but just when the questions were getting interesting, his city attorney said, "Stop!" I did not believe the city attorney had any right to shush people. I always thought his job was to give legal advice when consulted. But then, who was I to say? Subsequent checking has revealed my instincts were correct.

However, after that I was afraid to make the comments I would like to have made for fear I would get called down for being "out of order," too.

I decided you can't fight City Hall — not the way it's being run in Crete. So I trudged home to practice up on, "Ya vol, Herr Commandant!" I think I'll need it — till election time.

MRS. ROBERT CONNER

Unwanted Pups

Schuyler, Neb.

The "concerned fifth-grader" hit the nail on the head when he wrote about the unfortunate plight of unwanted dogs. I would like to take this matter a step further. Where do these unwanted dogs come from? Obviously they are bred somewhere.

If you have a female dog and don't want puppies (pups are lots of work and not cheap if you raise them correctly), then for heaven's sake, have your female spayed! You will be glad you did. Spaying does not alter temperament and does not make a female put on weight (food does this latter). A spayed female makes an even better pet than an unsplayed one as she of course does not come into season and is therefore much more inclined to stay home and mind her own business. And what about those Don Juan males? Vasectomy is a wonderful alternative to complete alteration.

A dog does not need to be bred to live a complete life. And if you feel you wish to breed "for the children's sake" so they can witness "the miracle of birth," then think about letting them witness what often happens on the other end to unwanted pups, as did one very sensitive fifth-grader.

ANDREA VRANA

Hair Styles

Lincoln, Neb.

I was very interested in the picture of the law-enforcement officers which accompanied the article about the consolidation of police officers in some areas of rural Nebraska.

My interest in the picture was because of the appearance of the officers. In my opinion, they were very neat appearing; however, they had long sideburns, one had a mustache, and their hair appeared to be of a length comparable to the present fashion of men's hair, rather than short and tapered up, like something out of the 50's.

I wonder when our local law-enforcement officers will be allowed to wear a mustache, long sideburns, and their hair at a length comparable to other men's. Usually one thinks of rural areas being slower to change from past ways. However, in this respect, they are far ahead of Lincoln, a usually progressive city.

Speaking of consolidation of police officers, perhaps Lincoln should look into this, too. It seems to me that consolidation of the Lincoln Police Department with smaller local law-enforcement departments, such as the park rangers and campus police, would make for more efficiency, and perhaps save a little of the taxpayer's money.

Diseased Trees

Lincoln, Neb.

I was told to remove the diseased elm tree on my property within nine days or the Acme Tree Service would remove it and the cost assessed against my property.

I have attempted to reach Wayne Willmegg, city forester, about the many Dutch elm diseased trees in my neighborhood. I have never been able to talk to him.

I am especially concerned about the dead tree in Penzer Park. I was told by a lady in Mr. Willmegg's office that my tree must be removed as it was dangerous to my property. The tree on my property was fully leafed out and green. So I am certain this dead tree is dangerous to the children playing in the park. Other elm trees in the park look infected, too.

Since the city has a contract with the Acme Tree Service for tree removal, may I contact them to remove this tree and assess the cost to the city? Or do I live in a city where the motto is, "Do as I say, not as I do."

I expect immediate attention to clean-up of city property in my neighborhood.

LT&T Accuses County Of 'Massaging Figures'

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County was accused Friday of "massaging figures" to distort the resulting sales-assessment ratios used as a guide for setting property values in the county.

In a hearing before the Lancaster County Board of Equalization, Lincoln attorney Richard Smith, representing the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph Co., told the board that "it appears to me there are figures here which are being massaged in some way" so the sales-assessment ratios do not accurately reflect the actual sale prices of properties in the county.

The telephone firm, in its appeal to the board, is seeking a $5 million reduction in personal property valuation on grounds that personal property in the county is not being assessed at the same rate as real estate as required by law.

The firm contends that an assessment-sales ratio study of sales of real property in the county during 1972 shows that real property is being assessed at a composite rate of 23% of market or actual value while the personal property of LT&T was assessed at 35% of actual value as required by state law and court ruling.

Herrington Testifies
Former State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington, who was hired by LT&T to conduct a sales-assessment ratio study, testified before the board that he had checked the records in the register of deeds office against those in the offices of the county assessor and treasurer and found that during 1971 almost 100% of the selling prices were adjusted downward from the sale prices reflected in the revenue stamps on the deeds.

He said that the register of deeds is required by law to omit any personal property involved in the sale as shown on the confidential statement in the price reflected in the revenue stamps, but these prices are not reflected in the sale price used for assessment purposes.

Herrington said that by adjusting the sale prices downward the sales-assessment ratio is made to look better than it is.

Assessor Fritz Meyer, during hearings with individual property owners, has cited the 29.96% sales-assessment figure set for Lancaster County by the state on the basis of the information furnished the state by the county.

Figures 'Seem Strange'
Herrington also noted that it seemed strange to him that the sale price of an average single family property sold in 1971 was $20,000 as compared with $18,555 in 1972, according to the sales-assessment report for Lancaster County. At the same time the average sale price jumped from $19,762 in 1971 to $22,168 in 1972, according to the multiple listing realtors.

He said these figures were based on 2,646 sales in 1971 and 1,959 in 1972, according to county figures, and on 1,870 sales in 1971 and 2,217 sales in 1972 by the figures furnished by the multiple listing people.

Herrington further testified that his study revealed that not a single vacant lot sale was reflected in the sales used for the sales-assessment ratio data forwarded to the state tax commissioner by Lancaster County in either 1971 or 1972.

He said it was his opinion that if there were no adjustments in the sale prices prior to figuring the sales-assessment ratios, the 1971 sales-assessment ratio would be about 25% and the 1972 sales-assessment ratio 23% instead of the 29% which he alleges reflects the distorted sales prices.

Prices Adjusted 10%
Herrington said he did not know when and how these figures are adjusted but the sale price used for assessment purposes has been adjusted downward about 10% from the sale price shown on the deeds for those properties.

In response to comments by Meyer and County Attorney Paul Douglas regarding the fact that the values of LT&T property are based on what LT&T alleges it to be and are not set by the assessor, Smith and Arnold Swanson, assistant treasurer of LT&T, contended they were not arguing the value of their property but the equalization of that property with other property in the county.

They contended that on the basis of their study, real estate property is valued at only 23% of actual value while their personal property is at the 35% level.

They again cited the Grainger Bros. Co. v. Lancaster County Board of Equalization case of 1966 in which the court held that assessment of personal property must be equalized with assessment of real property in the county.

Smith told the board that it is its duty under the law, the state and federal constitutions and by rule of the Supreme Court to equalize personal property with real property within the county.

Scott Opposes Skin In Films

Retired Western movie star Randolph Scott, 70, of Beverly Hills, Calif., said Friday that sex and nudity in movies are made only to earn producers a "fast buck." Scott, in Rochester, Minn., for a Mayo Clinic checkup, predicted that the fad for sex in pictures will pass when the "permissive pendulum" swings back. Scott made his last of some 300 movies nine years ago.

British Shoot Sniper

BELFAST (AP) — British troops killed a guerrilla sniper in Belfast Friday, raising the death toll to eight in 24 hours of the worst violence Northern Ireland has seen in months.

The gunman fell from a single shot fired by an army marksman who spotted him aiming at a military post in the turbulent Roman Catholic Ardoyne sector, an Irish Republican Army stronghold.

His death raised the toll in nearly four years of sectarian bloodshed in the province to 798 — 117 of them this year.

Since Thursday evening, four army sergeants, two guerrillas, a Catholic civilian and a 14-year-old Catholic girl hit by sniper fire have died.

The fearsome spasm of killing intensified official fears that the IRA was stepping up its terror campaign to wreck elections scheduled over the next six weeks.

"There have been signs of a buildup for some time," an army source said.

Aid Set For Omaha Special Police Unit

Discussion leading to the overruling of two grant review committee decisions dominated the meeting Friday of the State Crime Commission.

Omaha Police Chief Richard Anderson was successful in his efforts to have the full commission approve a request for $241,083 in federal funds to set up a "special events unit."

The unit would be a "mobile task force" with three sergeants and 18 policemen assigned to it. It would emphasize undercover work in the areas of drugs, robbery, vice, intelligence and electronic surveillance.

The grant review committee had tabled the application on the grounds that its approval might commit the commission to providing 75% of the funding for the program for the next three years, rather than a decreasing share each year.

'Line For Line'
Anderson, however, contended the Omaha Police Department had taken great pains in preparing the application and followed guidelines in the 1973 Comprehensive Plan "line for line."

"We laid out everything except my grandmother's maiden name," Anderson said. The issue was finally resolved after the commission approved

Astronauts Preparing For Salvage Mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Astronauts, preparing for the first space salvage mission, Friday practiced installing a space sun bonnet which they hope will cool off the Skylab station enough to allow a manned mission.

SkyLab 1 astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz are scheduled to be launched to the sweltering space station at 8:02 a.m. EDC next Friday. They'll carry with them two types of solar shades designed to protect the 118-foot Skylab from the blistering heat of the sun.

Conrad and Kerwin "flew" an Apollo command ship simulator Friday at the Johnson Space Center near Houston, learning how to guide the space ship close enough to the Skylab to allow Weitz to attach a sail-shaped sun shade.

Weitz, in another building at the space center, schooled himself in the mechanical techniques he'll use to deploy the shade. If it proves possible, the astronaut is to stand in the Apollo command ship hatch, lean out and attach the sail-like shade on Skylab while Conrad and Kerwin hold the Apollo craft steady alongside the space station.

Temperatures in Skylab remained stable Friday at 100 to 110 degrees, some 30 to 40 degrees hotter than the preferred level. Skylab heated up shortly after its launch last Monday when an aluminum meteorite and thermal shield ripped away. The shield also fouled deployment of two of six power-producing solar panels, cutting the space station's electrical power by half.

Engineers in the nation's widespread centers of space technology were fabricating three types of candidate sun shades and a variety of tools for the repair mission.

In addition to the sail-shaped shade, engineers continued to study two other types of solar shields, one of which will probably be flown aboard Skylab 1. One of these is shaped like a roller-type of window shade and the other resembles an umbrella. Both would be installed by Kerwin in a space walk from the hatch of Skylab. The astronaut practiced installation techniques Thursday.

A decision on which of the shades to use is expected next week.

Guard Is Blamed In Zambia Killings

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — Zambia said Friday a power station guard was responsible for the shooting deaths of two young Canadian women and the wounding of an American man at Victoria Falls on the Rhodesian border.

The Rhodesian government had blamed the shootings on Zambian troops, and Zambia at first had blamed enemies of Zambia. The border has been a focus of tension between Zambia and white-ruled Rhodesia, which has charged black guerrillas with launching attacks from Zambian territory.

After making its own investigation of the Tuesday shootings, the Zambian government reported that a sentry said he believed he saw armed men on a mission to attack the power station on the Zambezi River.

The guard said he mistook the North American hikers — three women and one man — for four men, and thought they were wearing waterproof gear for protecting explosives from moisture, the Zambian report said.

Shots were fired from the power station area, killing the two Canadians and wounding the American man, whose wife escaped unhurt. The Zambian report did not say who fired the shots.

The body of one of the Canadians, Christine Sinclair, 20, of Guelph, Ont., was recovered Thursday. Officials abandoned a search along the crocodile-infested waters for the body of the other victim, Marion Iduma Drijber, 19, of Rockwood, Ont.

Political Differences No Barrier—Rogers

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers assured Latin American nations Friday that the United States will work with them in friendship regardless of political differences.

Rogers' policy offered reassurances that U.S. dominance of Latin American affairs was a thing of the past.

He said Washington favors regional cooperation without U.S. participation, as well as structures such as the Organization of American States which include United States.

He welcomed such efforts as the formation of the central American common market, the Andean pact of Venezuela, Colombia, Peru, Ecuador, Chile and Bolivia, and a Caribbean grouping.

"What we want to achieve is a relationship characterized by realism, frankness and mutual respect that distinguishes productive collaboration among states," Rogers said.

Rogers spoke to some 100 Colombian government, civic and business leaders at the palace of President Misael Pastrana in the center of Bogota, the Colombian capital. His speech was considered the most important address so far in his 17-day Latin American tour.

Rogers said the U.S. can increase its attention toward Latin America, western Europe and Japan because the world is more secure than it was when President Nixon took office.

"We can now concentrate on cooperation among friends to build a better and healthier world," Rogers said.

Rogers left Colombia Friday bound for Brazil, the sixth of eight Latin American nations scheduled for his trip.

An aluminum canoe displayed outside the Countryside Marina, at 2520 West O, was stolen, according to Lincoln police reports Friday. The canoe was valued at $188.

NU Assumes Edutek Function; Merger With SUN Expected

By MILAN WALL
Star Staff Writer

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Friday approved transfer to the university of the functions of Edutek's Institute for Education and Technology at the Lincoln Air Park.

The action apparently spells the end of the institute but not the notion that Nebraska can provide leadership in the use of technology in education.

Although the regents approved the transfer at the suggestion of NU President D. B. Varner, it was not clear immediately what the university would get.

A. James Ebel, chairman of Edutek's board, said following the regents action that an inventory has not yet been completed at the nonprofit corporations of offices.

Edutek was created three years ago by an unofficial consortium of Lincoln business, education and government leaders as a place for research and development in the application of technology in educational institutions in a four-state region.

$400,000 In Funds
Federal funds of more than $400,000 provided financing for nine projects, all but one of which have been completed. The last is in its final stages now.

Varner said following the regents meeting that the university was willing to assume the Edutek function mostly to keep the concept alive, probably in the proposed SUN program for college credit in off-campus settings.

Ebel said it was partly the idea of the federal government, which has funded the development of SUN, to merge the two concepts.

No Obligations
At Friday's Board of Regents meeting, Varner told the board its acceptance of the suggestion to assume "ownership" of Edutek would carry with it no obligation to continue any programs, hire any staff members or continue the Edutek name.

He also said it should be made clear that no state funds appropriated for other purposes would be used to finance Edutek-like operations.

NU Executive Vice President Merck Hobson, a member of Edutek's board, said the university will benefit mostly from the "know-how" and the "expertise" developed by Edutek.

He said he still believes Edutek was a good idea, but he noted the federal government had "changed its mind" about the future course for educational technology.

600 Here For State Elks Meet

About 600 Elks are expected to be involved in activities at the 61st Annual Nebraska Elks Association Convention in Lincoln which began Friday and runs through Sunday.

Friday's activities included ritual contests during the day and the state president's dinner in the evening.

Saturday's activities will include a morning business session, luncheons for various groups in the association and the annual dinner Saturday evening.

Sunday's activities will include the installation of officers, the presentation of awards and a memorial address by Vance D. Rogers, president of Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Ex-Lawman Charged With Killing Two Girls

STUART, Fla. (AP) — A former deputy sheriff was charged Friday with murder in the slaying of two teen-age girls. Authorities have said the deaths are linked to the killing or disappearance of five other women in South Florida.

State Atty Robert E. Stone interrupted a Circuit Court competency hearing to announce that Gerard Schaefer had been charged in the killings of Georgia Jessup, 16, and Susan Place, 17.

The hearing before Circuit Judge C. F. Trowbridge was on a petition by Schaefer's wife and mother for immediate nonvoluntary commitment to a state mental facility. Stone asked that a previous order confining Schaefer to a state mental facility when space was available not be carried out because Schaefer would not be held in maximum security.

The headless skeletons of Miss Place of Oakland Park and Miss Jessup of Fort Lauderdale were found on a thin strip of land in St. Lucie County called Hutchinson's Island.

Their deaths have been definitely tied to at least five other women, reported missing or dead in the past several years, Stone has said.

In addition, the state attorney's office is investigating cases of 20 or more missing girls, he said. Investigators also have received inquiries from 15 other states concerning dead and missing persons on their records, Stone said.

Saving Historical Sites Emphasized By Curator

There is no real acceptable alternative to preserving our historical sites, according to Persis Kolberg, curator of historic sites for the Nebraska State Historical Society.

Speaking at a dinner commemorating the 100th anniversary of the St. Paul United Church of Christ, Kolberg said that books and archives are not enough.

The actual historic site must be preserved if we are to understand how we have shaped our environment and how our environment has shaped us.

Element of Future

The sites communicate the lessons of history so we can learn from the past, he said, adding that the past is an essential element of the future.

Kolberg said there is no alternative to preservation "unless you want to see hamburger drive-ins from sea to shining sea."

The curator said the country is in a "steady and maddening rush" to destroy our limited number of historic sites.

He suggested naming the interstate cloverleaf as our national flower.

Net Loss

Kolberg said the old is destroyed and the destruction is justified in the name of "progress" and we discover too late that there has been a net loss in terms of quality.

He told the group that now efforts are being made to preserve whole districts rather than individual buildings and this type of effort is often successful.

He said the original St. Paul's church is the only one of a group of major buildings in Lincoln at the time it was built which still remains.

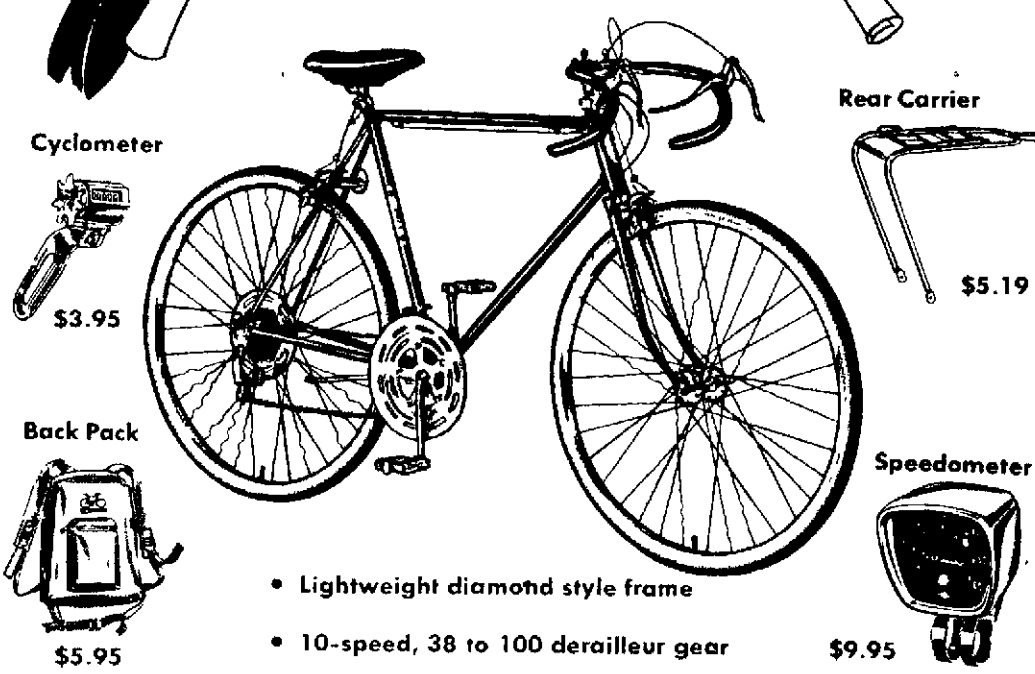

Kolberg praised the church's congregation for their efforts in restoring the original building.

Master of ceremonies Walt Broer said the building had been condemned by the city and they were told they could no longer use it as the janitor's quarters.

Broer said that instead of simply tearing the old church down, the parishioners got together and began the slow work of restoration.

SKYLINE TERRACE MEADOW LANE in suburbia

With the month of May in its final half, Lincoln's suburban residents have been looking forward to the arrival of summer and all of the seasonal activities that will ensue. Vacation plans are being made, camping, fishing and hiking gear are being readied for use, and youngsters are looking forward to attending summer camps.

However, before we get too far ahead of ourselves, we should mention the fact that there has been quite a bit going on in Lincoln during the recent past.

For example, there was a good deal of activity last Sunday at the Bethany Park Heights home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Roelle and children, Cynthia and Curtis. It was, of course, Mothers' Day, and arriving in Lincoln in time for dinner at the Roelle home were Mr. Roelle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roelle, and Mrs. Roelle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rainforth, all of Litchfield; and Mrs. Roelle's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Don Freeland and Family of Hampton.

Also included in the get-together were three very special guests—Susanna Wong, Albert Chi-Pu Cheung and Alex Su-Kay Ng—all of whom are foreign students at the University of Nebraska.

Visitors were also very much in evidence last weekend at the Meadow Lane home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamb. Friday-through-Sunday guests at the Lamb home were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hampton and children, Gregg and Stephanie of Springfield, Mo. Mr. and Mrs. Hampton and Mr.

and Mrs. Lamb were neighbors before the Hamptons moved from Lincoln to Missouri.

On Sunday, the two families observed Mothers' Day dining out.

Making plans for a three-week vacation which will begin later this month are Skyline Terrace residents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Hill will leave Lincoln on Sunday, May 27, and their destination will be Van Nuys, Calif., where they will spend two weeks visiting at the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hayes, and children, Rhonda, Robert, Carey and Theresa.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayes, both of whom are graduates of the University of Nebraska recently moved to Van Nuys from their former home in Columbus, Ga.

During their return trip, Mr. and Mrs. Hill plan to stop in Scottsdale, Ariz., where Mrs. Hill's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lash, reside.

A combined business and pleasure trip is on the agenda next week for Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson. On Monday, they will fly to Minneapolis, Minn., where Mr. Johnson will attend a three-day business meeting.

While in Minneapolis, they will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hamilton; and, if weather and time permit, the two couples plan to do a bit of camping and fishing in northern Minnesota during the latter portion of the week.

Special Programs Planned By Three Women's Groups

Several women's organizations have scheduled special events for Saturday, among them a year's end celebration, election of officers, an address by a national president, initiation, convention, and even a founder's day celebration.

Kappa Kappa Iota

Kappa Kappa Iota, teacher's sorority, will have its state convention at the Trinity United Methodist Church on Saturday.

More than 80 delegates from across the state are expected to attend the meeting. The special guest speaker will be Mrs. Merle Cable of Odessa, Tex., the sorority's national president.

New state officers will be elected and installed during the morning's activities.

Delta Theta Chi

The 39th annual founder's day banquet of Nebraska Alpha Chapter, Delta Theta Chi sorority, will be held in the Plaza Room of the Villager Motel at 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Guest speaker will be Miss Helene Fullen of Omaha, vice president of Electra Province of which the local group is a member.

New members to be initiated at the banquet will be Mrs. Ruth Schneider, Mrs. W. E. Wittmann, and Mrs. Lois Mosher.

AAUW

A salad luncheon and discussion of what the individual can do about the environment will culminate the club season for the members of the Lincoln branch of the American Association of University Women (AAUW).

"This Beleaguered Earth," a study group chaired by Mrs. David Jamieson, is the topic of the program at the First Plymouth Congregational Church, 20th and D Sts., 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

Platforms — A Hazard?

'Well, platform shoes do make your feet ache if you walk too long, and you can't feel the gas pedal. They really are dangerous. But they make me look so tall and skinny.'

By NANCY HULVERSHORN
Star Staff Writer

Fashion has its pitfalls. Maxicoats get their hems munched in escalators. Tall spike heels ruin carpets and send women flying when the heels catch in cracks.

Long scarves get caught in ski tows, and wide-legged pants hand up in bicycle chains.

Warning

Now, the latest fashion craze, the platform heels and clogs, has been branded as a driving hazard by several state automobile clubs and the American Automobile Association (AAA).

Podiatrists also warn that constant use of these shoes can lead to foot problems, and for some people just walking in platforms can be dangerous, the National Safety Council has warned.

For one University of Nebraska-Lincoln coed, the platform pitfalls are only too painfully apparent.

Gail DeBuse, a senior from Omaha, was running in a pair of open back clogs, fell and broke two bones in her foot. Though Miss DeBuse was in a cast for six weeks and still has a bandaged foot, she hasn't abandoned fashionable shoes. "I can't wear them now, but I'm going to when I can," she said.

AAA Article

The May issue of the American Automobile Club's house magazine will carry a warning that the new platform shoes "may be high on fashion, but they are low on safety."

The picture and short article in the publication, which will go to AAA affiliates across the nation this week stresses that platform shoes make it difficult to get the foot firmly on the accelerator and hinder quick shifting from one pedal to another. The thick soles also decrease sensitivity.

Labeling the thick-soled footwear "probably the worst driving shoe ever created," the Keystone Automobile Club in Philadelphia, Pa., warned, "It is very difficult to shift the foot from the accelerator to the brake in an emergency while wearing a 4- to 5-inch shoe."

"Add to this the voluminous, cuffed bell bottoms slapping around the ankles and just waiting to snag the platform heels and we have a real driving hazard," said the safety director of the club, the first group to suggest that the new shoe style might be dangerous.

Outselling Other Shoes

The platform problems will not get any better in the near future since a check of local stores shows that platforms and clogs are outselling other women's shoes by a margin of 8 to 1. About 90% of the sales to women under 25 are the crazy, clunky look.

Local opinion seems to be divided about the dangers of the towering shoes.

Neither city nor county police have any record of platforms or clogs causing local accidents and Traffic Captain Dean Leitner, of the city police department, says he has seen no research on any hazards connected with the shoe.

Even the wearers of the new foot gear can't agree. One woman went shopping the first time she wore her 3-inch heels and found them "really comfortable."

Driving was also no problem, she claimed.

Adjust To The Feel

Others say they had to "adjust" to the new feel in the car.

One petite, young wife who has invested in three of the tall, tall platforms and is eyeing more, said, "Well, they do make your feet ache if you walk too long, and you can't feel the gas pedal. They really are dangerous; but they make me look so tall and skinny."

Even local podiatrists have some disagreement on the new fashion fad.

"As long as the shoe fits and is comfortable, then it is fine," according to Dr. Richard M. Evans. Three other doctors disagree.

They say that any shoe with a tall heel can be harmful, throwing women off balance and causing tendon shortening. "Some women who wore the tall heels of the 20's can't go barefoot today because of tendon shortening," according to Dr. Kenneth Jones.

Clogs Can Be Harmful

The no-backstrap clog, like the popular bare trap sandal, can be harmful to women whose foot muscles are not extremely strong, the podiatrists said.

Just taking a short stroll in these clogs can be dangerous for some. "It depends on the agility of the individual wearing them," said Dr. Robert D. Gartner.

"The obese or clumsy girl has no place in them," he warned.

Even the thick, solid soles of the new shoes come in for criticism. Foot muscles don't get much use in these shoes, which immobilize the foot much like a cast.

Like Walking On Cement

It's like walking on cement all day," said Dr. J.

Men Get 'Creative' Walking Tips

Chicago — It's no secret high-heeled, two-toned, funky platform "sole shoes" are the latest kick in the head to today's style-conscious male. Fashion followers report the really contemporary cased-cueed chap would rather be caught with his carphones down than lose sight of his high-rise feet.

But "Men — beware," warns National Safety Council Home Safety Information Specialist Mary Anderson who sees trouble afoot for careless cloggers. "The extreme height, weight and rigidity of the shoe — or the bucket-on-each-foot feeling — decreases mobility, balance and speed," notes Ms. Anderson. "The possibilities of injuries caused by falls and twisted ankles are greatly heightened when you pair the average man or boy in platforms."

What is the answer then? Swearing off platforms? "Hardly," says Ms. Anderson. "The confirmed sky-high shoe wearer is not about to turn his platform into a planter." Her professional advice — "Watch your step and one foot at a time — or what I call 'creative walking' is the key to keeping your ground with platform shoes. Judge each movement with your heels in mind and allow for the deeper toe area at each step, curb or any floor level change."

"Do a Jose Greco on the sidewalk to scuff up and take the slippery finish off the bottoms," is another suggestion from Ms. Anderson to escape falls. "Cultivate a crisp, steady style of walking. But avoid at all costs the 'Frankenstein Flop' — the stiff legged gait — it's bad for the leg muscles, or the 'Monster Mush' — dragging your feet. That can wear down the heels unevenly and increase the danger of an embarrassing tumble" notes Ms. Anderson.

Spell Costs $600

DEAR ABBY I've been married to an American serviceman for 16 years. We have two children, 13 and 9. Our marriage has been miserable. I am easy-going, and he is very temperamental. He was sent to Korea for 13 months, and I wanted to write and tell him we were finished because I had lost all love and desire for him. That's when I went to this lady who reads palms.

The lady told me that money is power, and power is the devil's curse, and if I had any money I would have to sacrifice it to drive the evil spirits from my body.

I told her all I had was $600 in cash and $2,800 in bonds. She told me to bring her the cash so she could take it to church and burn it as a sacrifice, then I would be free of the devil's curse.

I did as she asked, and I know it sounds weird, but like a miracle I started feeling love and desire for my husband again, even tho we were separated. I wrote him love letters every day. The palm reader told me if I mentioned the miracle to my husband the spell would be broken.

I was very happy. Then this woman called and told me she had a message from God, who said if I wanted the spell to last after my husband got home I would have to cash in my bonds and sacrifice them, too, so I obeyed her.

My husband is coming home soon, and I don't know what to tell him about our savings and the bonds I'm afraid he will kill me. Please help me.

WORRIED IN BALTIMORE
DEAR WORRIED: Your story should be told to the police.

DEAR ABBY: As soon as Tom and I became engaged, he started the "Why wait?" line, so we became intimate, although I was a virgin until then. Now I find that he has told all his friends and I feel betrayed.

I am not sure I want to spend the rest of my life with someone that immature. Abby, if a boy really loves a girl and respects her, would he tell something like that?

YOUNG SQUARE
DEAR YOUNG: No. And I think you are wise to question his love. Don't marry a "boy" — marry a MAN.

DEAR ABBY Often people write to you for information which they can easily get by simply calling their public library (such as the recent inquiry about the origin of the American Indian). Most libraries are happy to serve the public with ready reference material by phone. Libraries are not just for "bookworms" — they are the storehouse of mankind's accumulated knowledge, historical as well as current.

Librarians are there to arrange this material in some logical manner, and guide people in their search for it. They can supply facts concerning the World Series, instructions on repairing a car, material for a term paper, a directory of addresses, back issues of a magazine.

Please urge people to USE their public libraries. We have no budget to advertise the many services we offer. Will you give us a small plug, Abby?

FORMER LIBRARIAN
DEAR FORMER: You've helped me for years. This is the least I can do for you. I hope this item doesn't swamp you.

Banquet In Palmyra

All graduates of Palmyra High School are invited to attend the school's alumni banquet which is scheduled to take place on Saturday evening, June 2, in the high school auditorium. The event will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

During the evening, the 10, 25 and 50-year classes will be honored. The program will feature selections to be performed by the Palmyra Freshman Choir.

Reservations for the banquet should be made by May 26 with either Mrs. Marvin Cockerham, 780-5366, or Mrs. Leslie Weatherhogg, 780-5799.

AT HOME

Kangaroo mamas have one advantage over "human" mamas—their crib is "built-in." There's no need for them to dash around the house to give Junior tender loving care. He is always nearby, located quite conveniently for mother's attention.

Any mother's attention is crucial in providing a child with the religious foundations needed to produce a responsible adult. Enough freedom so that he can be independent — enough discipline to provide structure for his life. And moral precepts instilled by the Church and parental example.

One day Junior will outgrow mama's pouch or crib. Then, and only then, can parents know if they have been successful.

Ex-White House Aide Tried To Get IRS Info

Washington — John J. Caulfield, a former White House aide whose name figured prominently in Friday's Senate Watergate testimony, tried three years ago to obtain Internal Revenue Service information for the White House on one of President Nixon's closest friends, according to sources directly acquainted with the matter.

The sources said Caulfield tried unsuccessfully to get a special IRS agent to report to John D. Ehrlichman, then the President's counsel, intelligence gathered by the agency on C. Arnold Smith, whose friendship and financial support of Nixon spans nearly three decades.

IRS sources told the New York Times Friday that what Caulfield was reported to have been asking the agent to do was a violation of federal law and agency regulations governing the disclosure of internal revenue information.

James W. McCord Jr., a convicted Watergate conspirator, swore before the Senate Watergate Committee Friday that it was Caulfield who "conveyed" to him what he believed was White House pressure to remain silent in exchange for executive clemency and financial aid.

The sources who told the Times about the alleged effort by Caulfield to obtain the IRS information on Smith for the White House gave the following account.

In the spring of 1970, Caulfield, then an assistant to Ehrlichman, tried to persuade the IRS agent to visit the White House secretly and discuss his agency's investigation of Smith. The agent was also asked to report on John Alessio, Smith's closest business associate who later went to prison for federal income tax evasion.

Fund-Raiser
Smith is an important

Republican fund-raiser who heads a far-flung business empire.

In his only direct conversation with the agent, via long-distance telephone, Caulfield asked about Alessio and Smith, who both live in San Diego. When the agent outlined the inquiries and also told of problems encountered at the U.S. attorney's office in connection with the Smith inquiry, Caulfield requested that the agent send him a memorandum detailing the information.

He requested that there be nothing in the memorandum to indicate where the document originated or for whom it was prepared. The agent dictated the memorandum and it was sent to Caulfield at his White House office. No copies of the document were made and the secretary who prepared it destroyed her notes.

A short time later, Caulfield got in touch with the agent through a federal law enforcement officer who works in Southern California. The intermediary is not an IRS agent. He told the IRS agent that Caulfield wanted him to make a trip to Washington to talk to Ehrlichman about the contents of the memorandum.

The intermediary said the White House did not want anyone in IRS to know of the trip. The agent was asked either to take some annual leave or to make the trip over a weekend to insure secrecy. The intermediary told him his expenses would be taken care of "somehow." But the agent, who was stationed in San Diego, balked.

"If they want to use what I know for a legitimate prosecutive purpose, then they would have no compunction about putting in an official request for me to come back," he told the intermediary. "If it's to be used for some type of political decision, to protect Smith or feed into a decision the administration is going to make relative to San Diego, I don't want any part of it."

Didn't Like It
The agent told the intermediary to tell Caulfield that he didn't like the idea of sneaking around on his agency and to put his request in writing through the agent's superiors in IRS, but the White House rejected that approach.

On June 19, 1970, the intermediary presented the agent with an alternative proposal from Caulfield. This time, the agent was asked to come to the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., for talks. The agent responded that he was about to start a vacation in Mexico and that if someone from the White House wanted to see him he could be reached there.

The following week, the intermediary visited the agent in Mexico and told him the White House had decided against a meeting with him.

IRS sources told the Times that what Caulfield was asking the agent to do is in violation of federal laws and agency regulations governing the disclosure of internal revenue information. The agent has since resigned from the IRS.

Teacher Group To Hear Speech By Sen. Lewis

State Sen. Frank Lewis of Bellevue will speak on legislation affecting public schools at a meeting Monday of the American Federation of Teachers (AFT) of Lincoln. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Unitarian Church, 6300 A.

The sponsor is a recently formed AFT chapter of teachers in the Lincoln Public Schools.

Kearney Man Freed On Bond; Faces 5 Counts

Kearney (UPI) — A young Kearney man charged with five counts stemming from a shootout with police, was freed on $12,500 bond Friday after it was reduced from $40,000.

Buffalo County District Judge S.S. Sidner granted a request by the attorney for Larry Smith, 25, for the bond reduction.

Smith was bound over from county court to district court earlier this week for trial, after being declared competent for trial by examiners at the Lincoln Regional Center.

Smith faces felony charges of shooting with intent to kill, wound or maim, fleeing to avoid arrest, and carrying a concealed weapon, in addition to two misdemeanor counts of assault.

He was arrested last month after a priest and nun were assaulted at Good Samaritan Hospital in Kearney and a high speed chase which resulted in a shootout with police. There were no injuries.

Lincolnite Honored

Jerry Phillips of Lincoln was among 131 honor students cited during the Bethany College Honors Convocation at Lindsborg, Kan. Honor students at Bethany College have maintained a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or above.

United Parcel Labor Violation Charges Filed

Omaha, Neb. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Labor has charged in Federal District Court that the United Parcel Service, Inc., of Omaha is in violation of federal labor laws. The complaint charges the company refuses to hire persons between the ages of 40 and 65 and has not paid minimum wages in some instances or overtime.

Jerry Sanning of United Parcel's Omaha personnel office said he had no comment on the charges.

Bank Entrances Blocked

... Residents Turn Back Federal Deposit Insurance Officials

ELM CREEK, Neb. (AP)—As many as 50 persons blocked the front and back entrances of the Elm Creek State Bank Friday, to keep officials of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation from entering.

Up to 50 persons arrived at the bank about 7 a.m., well in advance of the arrival of FDIC persons 90 minutes later. The officials, along with secretaries, tried to enter the building, but were turned back.

A short time later the secretaries said they had been told they could leave for the day. FDIC representatives declined comment to newsmen.

At a meeting of Elm Creek residents Thursday night, it was agreed they would show up at the bank Friday and attempt to prevent entrance to the bank until such a time as they could get their money back.

FDIC officials had indicated they were prepared to begin payoffs at 5 p.m. Friday, meaning they would start Saturday morning.

The State Department of Banking closed the bank April 20 and filed a declaration of insolvency May 8.

However, stockholders of the bank are seeking an injunction and asking that the insolvency be declared void. FDIC officials said they would wait until results of the hearing are known to pay off.

One farmer said he had waited for his money and "29 days is long enough." He said he has purchased cattle and corn to feed the cattle and payment is due.

A woman indicated her family had to sell cattle to pay land taxes. Several Elm Creek persons said they were getting second notices on utility bills.

Persons who arrived early Friday piled several park benches in front of the door to the bank to prevent passage.

A spokesman, who was not identified by name, said the group wanted a meeting with State Banking Director Henry Ley, someone from the governor's office or someone in a supervisory position with the FDIC.

The protest, besides being over money held, is about a lack of banking facilities in the community.

Asked if they could have gotten into the bank with the help of law enforcement officers, he said "yes, we could have, but we chose not to. We saw no point in causing more trouble."

Asked if Elm Creek persons were acting illegally, he said that was a legal question to be dealt with.

He said he understood the people's concern over their money.

Davis said the people would have let them in if they could have guaranteed that they would receive their checks at once, but he noted this could not be done yet.

Asked what he would do next, Davis said he would remain in Kearney until after Saturday's court hearing, and then hoped to return to the bank.

Asked about the alternatives, he said, if the court rules in favor of the State Banking Department, the government agency will return to Elm Creek and begin the payoff. He said he anticipated a decision tomorrow.

Davis said it normally takes two to seven days to pay off depositors. The FDIC insures depositors up to $20,000.

Two Research Projects OK'd On Gas-Alcohol Use

By DOMINICK COSTELLO
Farm Editor

The supporters of a program designed to use grain alcohol as an additive to gasoline received a boost Friday when the Agricultural Products Industrial Utilization Committee approved two research projects.

The first project involves the use of by-products left after the alcohol is removed from the grain and the second project is designed to prove beyond a doubt, the feasibility of using alcohol in gasoline for autos.

"I don't think we can economically justify the use of grain alcohol as a fuel unless we can find a way to get a better price for the grain by-products. We think there are some very real possibilities in using them in snack foods as well as in special livestock feeds," said Dr. James Kendrick, NU agricultural economist.

Work On Nutrition Kendrick and Dr. Lowell Satterlee, professor of food science, have been working together on a series of projects designed to improve the nutritional level of snack foods.

The project involves both the nutritive and economic aspects of the project at the same time. "We will just piggyback this project on our present operation at a very low cost. We will need one graduate student and some laboratory fees for a total cost of $2,600," Kendrick said.

The second project involves extensive tests on several types of engines, both in road tests and laboratory tests, to provide data for use in convincing engineers and fuel suppliers that the "gasohol" fuel will actually work without damaging modern engines.

The project will involve $55,915 to be spent on tests conducted by the University of Nebraska and $40,600 to be spent at one of several qualified laboratories.

The committee seemed to think that the National Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA) laboratory was the best place to have the tests made. However no final decision was made on the location of the tests at Friday's meeting.

Search Near End The search for a new administrator to replace Ray Ratliff, who left the committee in January, appears to be nearing completion.

Committee members indicated that they had narrowed the search to three men, one of whom is a clear favorite.

All three are experienced engineers who have worked in the oil business for several years. It was the lack of experience in the petro-chemical field by Ratliff which was criticized by Sen. Loran Schmidt who had asked the committee to drop Ratliff as administrator of the program.

Committee activities have been at a virtual standstill while a search for a new administrator was conducted by a subcommittee.

The committee asked that its chairman, Holly Hodge of Holdrege, accompany a delegation from the Legislature to Washington to see if some federal aid might not be available to help develop a pilot plant to produce grain alcohol in Nebraska.

The legislature voted to send such a delegation to the national capital Thursday as a part of a package of proposals dealing with the general shortage of fuels.

Illness Said Meningitis Possibility

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Douglas County Health Department Director James Spears said Friday department personnel were investigating what could possibly be a case of spinal meningitis contacted by an Omaha man.

Dr. Spears said the diagnosis was not definitely confirmed and the man apparently received some treatment before a laboratory specimen was taken. Dr. Spears said it was known the man had a meningitis-like illness and some general precautions were being taken, including treatment of persons who may have been in close contact with the man.

Many Helped Biafran Get Hastings Diploma

Hastings — Graduating from Hastings College this weekend, Godfrey Mbah will have "two diplomas down and one to go." Friends of the personable Biafran student are betting on him for the third, an intended Ph.D. in chemistry at Michigan State University. He has already received a graduate fellowship at the school beginning next fall.

At least three Nebraska cities and numerous individuals have played a significant part in educating the youth, who came to Beatrice in 1967 as an American Field Service high school senior. He later enrolled at Hastings College with financial help from Beatrice, Hastings and Omaha.

An Omaha acquaintance, attorney Louis Strom, persuaded Omaha Rotarians to provide Godfrey $500 per year to supplement a scholarship. Completing his degree in three years, he has assurance of the amount for next year as well.

Despite having five sons of their own, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Higgins have served as Godfrey's "parents" during his four years in this country. Moving from MBAH ... one to go.

Beatrice to Hastings soon after his high school graduation, they were the catalyst enabling his return to the United States for college.

"It has been a good experience for all of us having him live with us," said Mrs. Higgins, whose husband is a contractor. "He's been a real joy to have around."

Last summer the youth was one of 200 chemistry students from throughout the nation selected for a research program at the University of Wyoming.

Helicopter Wreckage Yields Man's Body

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—The body of a Grand Island man was found Friday at the wreckage of a helicopter that had crashed and burned in a field three miles west of Highway 281 near the Platte River south of Grand Island.

The victim was identified as Richard Moriarty, 31.

One of a half dozen search planes spotted the wreckage Friday morning about an hour and a half after they started looking for the experimental helicopter which had been assembled from a kit.

It was reported the helicopter had left the Grand Island regional airport about 6:30 p.m. Thursday. Flight plans are not normally filed for experimental flights.

The helicopter was said to have had enough fuel for about two hours of flight.

Moriarty was reported missing after personnel from Aviation Center Inc. found his car parked at a hangar at the airport. Moriarty's dog was in the car.

Fuel tanks on the helicopter exploded and the machine burned when it crashed.

Federal Aviation Administration officials were investigating the crash.

Decision Due In 60 Days On Fort Calhoun Safety

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The Omaha Public Power District will receive a decision in about 60 days from an Atomic Energy Commission AEC safety and licensing board on whether adequate safety measures are being taken at the Fort Calhoun nuclear plant.

A public hearing on the issue of safety at the plant concluded Thursday in Omaha.

OPPD and Citizens for Survival, an environmental group challenging the operation of the plant, will submit their final arguments in writing to the AEC within 30 days.

Thursday, the board denied a request by an attorney for the environmentalists which asked that OPPD be stopped from working on steam lines and feedwater lines.

Richard Dinsmore contended that if the AEC decides to ask OPPD to make modifications other than those it is currently undertaking, the public could end up paying more for modifications than it would if the work waited until after the AEC's decision.

The three-man board said it lacked the authority to stop work.

The hearing focused on two main issues:

—Whether the plant can operate at full power with certain modifications and protective measures added to steam and feedwater lines without endangering the public.

—Whether there is reasonable assurance that the plant can operate at full power with certain modified fuel rods without endangering the safety and health of the public.

A spokesman for the AEC regulatory staff said they were generally satisfied with safety measures being taken at the plant.

Iowa Judge Tells Indian To Leave Contested Farm

Onawa, Iowa (AP) — Monona County District Court Judge Donald Pendleton has signed a court order requiring an Indian to leave farmland northwest of here.

The Indian — Edward Cline — and others had occupied the property last month, claiming the land is part of a tract owned by the Omaha Indian tribe. Cline claimed that Indians were given the land in a U.S. government treaty in 1854.

But the judge's order Thursday specified only the 47-year-old Cline, who is from Macy, Neb.

The judge said he wasn't ruling on who owned the land and added that Cline's statement that the land is owned by Omaha Indians couldn't be used as defense because there's no indication that the tribe authorized him to occupy the tract.

The victim was Floyd Lichty Sr., 69.

Authorities said he was trying to unhook an implement from the tractor when it slipped into gear as Mr. Lichty stepped in front of it, pinning him.

Tractor Kills Fairbury Man In Auto Crash

Fairbury (AP) — A Fairbury farmer was killed Thursday when he stepped in front of a moving tractor and was pinned against a tree.

The victim was Floyd Lichty Sr., 69.

Authorities said he was trying to unhook an implement from the tractor when it slipped into gear as Mr. Lichty stepped in front of it, pinning him.

Research Balloon Falls Near Agnew

Agnew — While driving to his teaching position at Central Public Schools east of here Friday morning, biology teacher Tom Landmesser and his wife watched the slow descent of a parachute.

The parachute, carrying 2,800 pounds of scientific equipment, was a part of a 35-story-high research balloon launched from the Sioux City, Iowa, Municipal Airport Thursday evening.

Landmesser, who lives at 350 So 38th in Lincoln, estimated the parachute landed about a mile east and half a mile south of the school. He notified the school principal, Rolland Fenster, of his sighting before a call was placed to the National Weather Service.

Apparently Burst Officials of the Johnson Space Center said the balloon apparently burst after it sprang a leak and then dropped its payload.

The balloon was the second cosmic ray research balloon project at the center to go awry this week. An identical balloon, scheduled for earlier release, had burst.

The balloon which descended Friday, sighted by thousands of eastern Nebraskans and western Iowans Friday morning, had been expected to travel to Hill City, Kan., for landing there Tuesday, the National Weather Service said. The balloon was to travel at an elevation of 27 miles.

On Cosmic Rays Equipment carried was to collect data on cosmic rays in the upper atmosphere. No one with the project could be reached for comment.

When first sighted shortly after sunup Friday, the balloon was mistakenly identified by some as the Skylab space station.

A farmer said that portions of the giant balloon were found near Beatrice.

Officials in Sioux City said the balloon was part of a National Aeronautics and Space Administration experiment.

Boy Saves Lad's Life; Scout Training Used

The education a 13-year-old Lincoln Boy Scout received in earning his firemanship merit badge paid off Thursday evening.

Gary Chrastil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chrastil, of 124 C, possibly saved the life of a 7-year-old boy whose clothes were on fire.

Wally Thiel, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Thiel was listed Friday in "fair" condition at Lincoln General Hospital with second and third degree burns to his side and back.

Gary was delivering papers at about 5 p.m. when he saw two boys come running from the side of a house at 328 C, according to his mother.

Boys Screaming "He said both boys were screaming," Mrs. Chrastil said. "And he said it looked like one of them had a squirrel on his leg."

The "squirrel" turned out to be flames. Mrs. Chrastil said her son related his actions this way:

"I don't know, Mom. I guess I just rolled him on the ground

Gary Chrastil

Put Out Flames

and tore his shirt off at the same time."

Wally's father, alerted by the screaming, came running outside and immediately rushed Wally to the hospital.

Gary is a Star Scout in Troop 32 and earned his firemanship merit badge about a year ago, according to his scoutmaster, John Topham.

Award Sought Topham said that he has already started preparing an application that may win Gary an "award of merit" for giving aid when needed.

Before Gary is given the honor its presentation must receive the approval of both the Cornhusker Council of Nebraska and the national Council of Boy Scouts.

Topham said that "if it wasn't for the training Gary received in Boy Scout activities to earn his merit badge he wouldn't have known how to go about" putting out Wally's clothes.

Mrs. Chrastil also noted that Gary last week had been helping some of his friends prepare to earn their firemanship merit badges.

She said Gary was "very matter-of-fact about the whole thing."

Judge Cuts Chase Bond To $12,500

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP)—Buffalo County District Judge S. S. Sidner Friday reduced from $40,000 to $12,500 the bond on Larry D. Smith, 25, of Kearney Smith posted the bond.

He had been bound over to District Court earlier this week after a County Court preliminary hearing on felony charges of fleeing to avoid arrest, shooting with intent to kill and carrying a concealed weapon.

The charges were filed following an April high speed chase and shoot-out with Kearney police.

At the conclusion of this week's preliminary hearing, County Judge J. Karr Taylor had refused defense motions for bond reduction. The defense made the same request to District Court and it was approved by Judge Sidner after he overruled a state motion for continuance of the hearing.

Office Building Approval Near

OMAHA, NEB. (AP)—An Oklahoma-based firm says it may have enough space leased to go ahead with construction of a 31-story office tower in downtown Omaha.

A spokesman for the Transamerica Investment Group of Tulsa says the company has leased nearly 180,000 square feet of space in the building that will have 310,000 square feet.

Vernon Barge, vice president of Transamerica, said the goal would probably be reached in two weeks.

Barge said plans call for demolition on a building site at 16th and Farnam Streets starting Oct. 1.

PLUCKNETT WINS BIG 8 DISCUS

... Husker's Jepsen Finishes Fourth

IN FINALS ... NU's Priestley beats Iowa State's Mel Southwell (right) in 440 prelims.

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Manhattan, Kan. — Two Nebraskans achieved best-ever marks in the discus here Friday afternoon as the 66th annual Big Eight Outdoor Track and Field championships opened at the still to be completed Kansas State track facility.

Ben Plucknett of Beatrice won the event, one of two final events on the Friday program, with a toss of 182-3 and Steve Jepsen of Papillion was fourth at 169-0.

However, of the two, only Jepsen was wearing a red Nebraska uniform, with Plucknett filling out his gold and black jersey provided him by Missouri. Plucknett's previous best was 180-9 and the Missouri freshman was as surprised as Kansas State's Tom Brosius, the defending champion and pre-meet leader with a 187-5 effort, that he came up the winner.

"I knew I could have second place if I threw well..." Plucknett explained, allowing the sentence to drop off.

Plucknett recorded his 182-3 on his first throw in the finals after Brosius had posted a 172-6 on his first attempt. Brosius, then confronted with having to come up with a throw to top the 182-3 by Plucknett, fouled on his next two efforts.

But even after Brosius had fouled on his final attempt to overcome Plucknett, the Missouri freshman wasn't ready to run over and grab the winning medal.

"George Amundson (Iowa State) still had a throw coming," Plucknett pointed out. "And he had the potential to beat me."

Amundson didn't, however, winding up third at 171-11.

Jepsen, also a freshman, out threw his previous best by five feet with a 169-0 effort for fourth place. However, Jepsen has been much better than that in practice.

"I've thrown 180-0 in practice," he pointed out. "But in a meet, I seem to tighten up. I've got to learn to relax in a meet the way I do in practice."

One of the low points in Jepsen's initial season at Nebraska came a week ago in a dual meet against Missouri and Plucknett.

"Against Missouri, I threw it only 147-0 and didn't even qualify for the finals," Jepsen noted.

In the only other final event on Friday's program, the long jump, Nebraska's Ron Childs finished second with a 25-9 leap, one inch behind defending champion Kingsley Adams from Colorado.

Childs' second-place finish and Jepsen's fourth put Nebraska in second place going into Saturday's finals.

After Friday's two events, Kansas State led with 14 points, followed by Nebraska 12, Colorado 11, Missouri 10, Iowa State 8, Kansas 4, Oklahoma State 2 and Oklahoma 1.

Nebraska shared the lead in qualifying athletes into the Saturday finals with Kansas and Kansas State, all three advancing 10 from Friday's preliminaries. Oklahoma State advanced eight, Oklahoma four, Missouri three, and Colorado and Iowa State two each.

Nebraskans qualifying for Saturday's finals were: 120 high hurdles — Ralph Fisher, second in heat at 13.8, Gary Gressett, second in heat with 14.1.

440 — Larry Cimato, third in heat at 48.9, Leighton Priestley, first in heat at 48.7.

100 — Karl Webb, third in heat at :09.3; Jim Novak, fourth in heat at :09.5.

880 — Roger Chadwick, second in heat at 1:56.1, Larry Gnapp, fourth in heat at 1:56.3.

440 intermediate hurdles — Gary Gressett, third in heat at :53.8.

220 — Karl Webb, second in heat at :20.7.

Saturday's finals program gets underway at 11:30 a.m. with the javelin and the first running event is set for 2 p.m., the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

Lincoln High Rushes To Class A Track Lead

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha — Lincoln High, buoyed by Mike Fultz's state shot put record, accumulated 26 points to take the Class A lead in the 71st annual boys state high school track meet at Omaha Burke here Friday.

But the Links, 16 points ahead of runnerup Boys Town after three events, qualified only one individual in five Friday preliminaries.

State meet favorite Bellevue did not score in the first-day competition, but led Class A qualifiers for Saturday's finals with six, followed by Omaha Burke (5) and Millard (4).

Fultz heaved the shot 58-81 and teammate Rex Davies added the Class A long jump with a 23-10, fourth best ever by a Nebraska prepster.

Seven class records, including the state mark by Fultz, fell on opening day.

But there were the usual disappointments, too. For instance, Mike Landerfield, the state high hurdle leader with a season best of 14.2, was leading his Class C heat in the event by 10 yards but hit the last hurdle and failed to qualify.

Landerfield, however, came back later in the evening session to register the fastest Class C qualifying time (20.0) in the 180 low hurdles.

Defending gold medal champion Dave Pimpore of Omaha South faded badly against a crack Class A field and finished sixth in the event won by Boys Town's Barney Bill, who outdueled McCook's Carl Becker, 9:32.2 to 9:33.9.

The other major disappointment was Gering's Rick Cotton, who went only 13-6 in the pole vault after season-long 14-foot or better performances. He did not enter the competition until the height reached 12-6.

Fultz didn't take long to notch the meet's first overall record. He heaved the shot 58-81 on his first throw to break by 1 1/4 inches the previous mark set nine years ago by Hastings' Henry Dilly.

Although they did not establish overall state records, six other athletes joined in the first-day record-breaking ceremonies with class marks. They included:

— a 49.7 Class D 440 by Larry Valacek, who is seeking a third consecutive state championship in the event.

— a 49.2 quarter by Elkhorn Mt. Michael's Conroy Jeffries, who also led Class C 220 qualifiers with a 22.2.

— a 45-1 1/4 triple jump by Hildreth all-stars standout Rex Quadhomer for a Class D record and a Class C triple jump mark of 46-7 by Bayard's Randy George.

— a 6-4 Class D high jump by Gurley's Mike Miller and a 13-6 pole vault by Mead's Roland Bish.

Three other performances would have tied state class records and another would have been broken, but excessive wind nullified the efforts.

Omaha Holy Name's Mike Thompson may have emerged as the first-day standout. He whisked to a :09.5 in the 100 preliminaries. It would have beaten the state record by three-tenths of a second, but was disallowed because of wind.

Thompson also posted the meet's fastest 220 qualifying time of 21.6, which missed Kent McCoughan's state record by only two-tenths of a second. The Holy Name standout was equally impressive on the third leg of his "triple crown," zipping to a 49.3 in the 440 prelims.

Class record ties disallowed because of wind included: 14.8 in the Class D 120 high hurdles by Mead's Don Anderson, 14.6 in the Class C highs by Morrill's Kirk Begley and 10.0 in the Class D 100 by both Jim Rhoades of Brule and Lee Doncheske of Palmer.

Millard's Doug Aken clipped off an impressive 19.6 in the 180 low hurdles with Bellevue's Stovall close behind at 19.7.

Hurler Buehrer Helps NU Past Missouri, 5-1

By MIKE JOHNSON
Star Sports Writer

Freshman hurler Dave Buehrer has earned the confidence of Nebraska baseball coach Tony Sharpe.

Buehrer, who went the distance, struck out nine and paced the Huskers to a 5-1 Big Eight baseball victory over Missouri Friday afternoon at the NU Diamond. With the victory, NU finished above the .500 mark at 15-14-1.

But in the seventh inning with NU holding a 3-1 lead, Missouri loaded the bases on the Huskers and Buehrer. The situation necessitated a journey to the pitchers mound for Sharpe.

"I didn't hesitate for a moment in leaving Dave (Buehrer) in the game," Sharpe noted. "I just wanted to give him a rest and put him on the back."

The result? Buehrer struck out the Tigers' Tim Drennan in three pitches to end the inning and preserve the lead.

Buehrer also topped the NU hitters with two hits in four trips to the plate, including three RBIs. Rich Sanger went 2-2 and scored three runs.

After failing to score a run in 15 innings against the Missouri pitching staff (the Tigers won Thursday's games, 1-0 and 2-0), the Huskers ended the drought in the second inning.

Sanger singled and advanced to second on Gary Healey's sacrifice bunt. Bryant Akisada slammed a two-out single to score Sanger and shoot the Huskers to a 1-0 lead.

Buehrer retired the first nine Missouri batters in succession but the Tigers tied the score in the fourth.

Drennan singled and advanced to second on a fielder's choice. He scored on Dick Anderson's error.

NU quickly regained the lead in the bottom of the fourth inning. Sanger walked and advanced to third as Healey lashed a single and the Tigers' right-fielder committed an error.

Akisada and pinch-hitter Norm Glismann walked to push Sanger home. Buehrer then bunted to score Healey. The Huskers added two insurance runs in the eighth inning. Sanger singled and walks to Akisada and Dick Wilson loaded the bases. Buehrer then lined a double to right field and NU led 5-1.

Nebraska concluded Big Eight play with a 7-11 record. Missouri was 8-12 in the conference and 13-21 overall.

But Sharpe looks to next season as only Bob Munson, NU's top hitter, graduates from the veteran coach's 15th winning season in 27 years at NU.

"Our pitching staff could be very good next year," Sharpe offered. "We've been going with two freshmen, one sophomore and one junior most of the year."

"They'll all be back next year and if our hitting comes through, we could put it all together," he added.

Missouri coach Hi Simmons, 67, made his final coaching appearance Friday. He will officially retire Aug. 31 after 34 years at the Tigers' helm.

Laurin Likes Small Preakness Stakes Field

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Secretariat, record breaking winner of the Kentucky Derby, tested the Pimlico Racetrack Friday with a long gallop and a slow breeze in preparation for Saturday's $182,400 Preakness Stakes, and the only chance the colt ever will get to move a little closer to a sweep of the triple crown classics.

With Canada's Ron Turcotte in the saddle, the long-striding muscular son of Bold Ruler moved effortlessly around the mile track twice in a brisk gallop and then picked up momentum in the stretch to breeze a quarter of a mile in 24 1/5 and three furlongs in 39 2/5.

The husky chestnut-coated colt was the center of attention as he toured the course. Rival trainers watched in admiration.

"He's beautiful, just beautiful," said trainer Grover "Buddy" Delp who nevertheless will challenge Secretariat in the 98th running of the Preakness with Ecole Etage, a speedy colt who probably will go to the front at the start of the 1 1/8-mile race.

"That's just what I wanted," said trainer Lucien Laurin who believes Secretariat should have an easier time in the Preakness than he did two weeks ago in winning the Derby.

"There are only six in it this time and he should be able to save a little ground. He won't have to go around as many horses if he has to, as he did in the Kentucky Derby," said Laurin.

"It's unbelievable how good he is doing here. He's so sharp it scares you. I don't see how they can beat him but I won't relax until he gets across the finish line."

The trainer was just as confident a year ago and bitterly disappointed when Riva Ridge, his 1972 Kentucky Derby winner, finished fourth in the Preakness.

Riva Ride went on to redeem himself by winning the Belmont Stakes, to be run this year on June 9. But the colt left his chance to win the triple crown in the mud at Pimlico.

Mud was unlikely this year. A sunny day was forecast for Saturday and Pimlico officials anticipate a record crowd of close to 60,000 drawn by the magic of Secretariat in his battle with Sham. Our Native, Deadly Dream, Torsion and Ecole Etage.

Sham, who forced Secretariat to run 1 1/4 miles in the record time of 1:59 2/5 to beat him in the Kentucky Derby, was a strong second choice. Once again Laffit Pincay rides Sham.

This fierce competitor also was in perfect condition for the race, trainer Frank "Pancho" Martin said.

"If Sham can not beat Secretariat this time it's because he cannot handle him. He will have no excuse because this horse is in perfect condition."

Sham did have an excuse in the Kentucky Derby. He banged his head coming out of the starting gate and loosened two front teeth which later had to be removed. But when Sham was challenged in the stretch by Secretariat, he finally gave way and lost by 2 1/2 lengths.

Our Native was third in the Kentucky Derby but trailed Secretariat across the finish line by 11 lengths. Trainer Bill Resseguet has no illusions that Our Native was going beat Secretariat that day. But he points out that his colt was third up in the starting gate when a horse along side him reared and left hoofprints on Our Native's saddle with a thrashing hoof.

At the start, Our Native dropped back much farther than usual before he settled down for jockey Don Brumfield who will be aboard again.

Deadly Dream, Torsion, and Ecole Etage never have clashed with the kind of horses they will meet in the Preakness. An upset by any one of them would reward their backers with a big payoff.

There was, however, an upset a year ago when Bee Bee Bee led all the way and paid $39.40.

Tony Black rides Deadly Dream with Ben Feliciano on Torsion and George Cusimano on Ecole Etage.

Joey Bob, Full Pocket Eye Ak-Sar-Ben Handicap Saturday

By MARK GORDON
Star Sports Writer

Omaha — 1972 was a banner year for Joey Bob.

The standout horse, now a 5-year-old, captured Ak-Sar-Ben's featured attractions for older horses—the $56,750 Cornhusker Handicap and the $54,500 Board of Governors' Handicap—as well as the $22,400 George Brandeis Memorial Handicap. But one high-priced race Joey Bob faltered in third-place was the Ak-Sar-Ben Handicap.

Joey Bob, owned by the M.H. Van Berg Stables and former major league baseball player Joe Adcock gets a repeat chance at the Ak-Sar-Ben Handicap Saturday when the 6-furlong chase for a $35,000-added purse will be contested by 11 runners.

But to win the richest race offered thus far in the 3-week-old Ak meeting, Joey Bob must defeat one of the standouts in the Chicago racing circuit — Mr. and Mrs. R.F. Bensinger's Full Pocket.

Full Pocket, who received top impost of 128 pounds by racing secretary John Maluvius, boasts the following credentials:

— A victory May 5 in the $25,000-added Olympia Handicap at Arlington Park which this year's record to two wins in three starts for more than $81,000.

— Last season, he captured 9 of 17 starts for more than $116,000.

— As a 2-year-old, he won 5 of 9 for more than $30,000. So Joey Bob, second top-weighted at 121 pounds, has his work ahead of him. This will be Joey Bob's first appearance since winning an allowance test at Churchill Downs last October 28.

He was originally entered here in the Beef State Handicap on May 5, but trainer Jack Van Berg elected not to run him when early-morning rains left the track in an "off" condition.

While those two standouts are expected to receive the majority of the crowd's attention, there are other speedsters that are capable of upsetting either of the favorites.

Beira, owned by Texas millionaire, Nelson Hunt, won the Beef State Handicap. Although he will race uncoupled in the wagering from Joey Bob and his stablemate Guitar Player, he is trained by Van Berg.

Prince Astro, a disappointing fourth in the Beef State Handicap, seeks to return to the form that earned $75,000 for owner C.L. Warner on four victories in 7 starts this season.

Stormvogel, beaten 4 1/2 lengths by Beira two weeks ago, always performs well in Omaha. He triumphed in the 1971 $45,075 Omaha

Gold Cup Stakes.

Other entrants and their weights include William and Doug Burns' Fast Gas (115), Ken Opstein's Haveago (111), Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nickolte's Swift Capture (110), Circle Y Stables' Passe Partout (109) and Louise Coatney and John Kerber's Joust Abit Windy (108).

In Friday's featured $15,975 Princess Stakes, Pro Raja continued her string of never failing to return a paycheck for owner Ray Schuyler of Winner, S.D.

But, by scoring a one and one-half length victory at Ak-Sar-Ben, she collected a $8,758.75 check, which is the largest in her short career.

"We planned on it (the win)," said trainer Don Ladd. "We thought we had the best horse. And when we caught her (second-favored Hempen's Hawa, who set all the pace) at the 1/6th pole, we knew we were home free."

Pro Raja, who finished fourth on Ak's opening-day $10,000 Inaugural Handicap (Hempen's Hawa set the pace in the race before tiring and earning third over 5 1/2 furlongs), made amends for her first run this season at Omaha.

"This race (6 furlongs) was a little longer and there wasn't all that mud so we knew if we could get by whoever was leading in the stretch, we knew we'd be all right," Ladd said.

"It's the biggest thing that's happened to Winner," Schuyler said. "She had plenty of backing today. There were between 30 and 40 people down here for the race."

In racing to a 1 1/2 clocking, Pro Raja returned $12.60, $6.00 and $3.80. Hempen's Hawa, who earned $3,025.75 for Mrs. John M. Hundley, returned $4.80 and $3.00 while Ken Opstein's Swift Whisper showed for $4.00.

National Risk, the 9-5 favorite of the crowd of 12,389, finished fourth after pressing Hempen's Hawa for the majority of the race until the stretch run.

Ladd said Pro Raja would be entered in a route race at Ak-Sar-Ben and would probably run in the Inaugural Handicap at the State Fairgrounds in Lincoln this July. She then will return to her native South Dakota to run in the South Dakota Derby at Park Jefferson.

The victory, Pro Raja's second in four starts this year, lifted her 1973 earnings to $12,350.75. She won $15,227 in 12 starts in her first season of racing last year.

Fultz, Davies Not Complaining

By RANDY YORK
Prep Sports Writer

Omaha — Mike Fultz was disappointed and Rex Davies still isn't in shape.

But neither Lincoln High athlete was complaining here Friday after staking likely claims to gold medals in the 71st state high school track meet at Omaha Burke.

Fultz set a state shot put record of 58-8 1/2, but scratched on what many thought was a throw of 60 feet.

Davies, who didn't join the Lincoln High track team until three weeks ago after a 6-week bout with mononucleosis, stretched 23-10 to win the Class A long jump.

Their efforts put the Links into solid contention in both the Class A and grand championship pictures.

The power of positive thinking played a key role in the championship efforts, both of which were achieved on the first throw and jump.

"I was pruned, really ready for it," Fultz said of his record throw, which bettered the previous mark of 58-7 by Henry Dilly of Hastings set nine years ago.

"I get in my own little world... go off to myself, sit and read articles on shot putting before the competition," related Fultz. "People think I'm snotty because I don't talk to anyone, but that's the way I psych myself up."

Fultz, who set the state record on his first throw, thought he had reached the magical 60-foot mark on his second throw.

But officials ruled that he had scratched, drawing a chorus of protest from the gallery watching.

"I felt I had it. It was there," said Fultz, "but he (the official) is the boss and that's what counts. That was the uppermost thing in my mind to go 60."

Mike Fultz
Shot Put Champ

"I was in my own little world, but all I could hear was that guy say scratch," added Fultz. "It was a letdown and I couldn't come back on my other throws. I think it would have been tough for anyone to come back after that."

Lincoln High weight coach Bill Story noted that "a lot of shot putters come down here to the state meet with good throws, but don't produce. Mike did. He's a competitor. And if there's a better leader that comes out of Lincoln High School, I don't know who it's going to be."

If Davies doesn't rank near Fultz in leadership, he certainly does in courage and mental attitude.

"That's the first time I hit the board since Trans-Nebraska," related Davies, whose 23-10 ranks as the fourth best long jump ever for a Nebraska prepster.

It ranks behind the state record 24-10 1/2 set by Gale Sayers of Omaha Central in 1961 and a pair of 24-1/2 efforts by Lincoln High's Bobby Williams in 1961 and Hastings' Mark Munger in 1972.

Davies followed his championship first jump with efforts of 23-6 and 22-11 before falling short on his last two.

"I think that kind of proves I'm not in that good of shape. I kept getting worse," noted Davies, who decided to forego his sixth chance "to conserve my energy for the triple jump and pole vault tomorrow."

Admitting "I'm more mentally prepared with my jumps than physically," Davies says he's still feeling the effects of mononucleosis.

"I feel tired all over in school, before and during practice," he added, "but when you get the adrenalin going, you don't think about it. I psyched myself up."

To conserve strength this week in practice, Davies did not long jump in practice. "I did a couple of runthroughs to try and hit the board and ran some 110s and 220s but the coaches thought it would be best for me to just rest," related Davies.

"I hadn't hit the board in city or district meets. In fact, I was missing every time by a foot," he added. "I just wanted to come back and show everyone that I could do it when everything was on the line."

Glover Joins All-America Grid Roster

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — Nebraska's Rich Glover and Tennessee's Jamie Rotella were named Friday to head a list of seven players accepting bids to play in the 13th annual Coaches All-America Football Game scheduled June 23 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Glover, a defensive middle guard will play for Southern California Coach John McKay's West team. Rotella, a linebacker, will be on Auburn Coach Shug Jordan's East team.

Signing with Glover and Rotella were Brigham Young linemen Paul Howard Morgan State tight end Ron Mayo Tennessee State flanker Ollie Smith, Michigan State center Marvin Roberts and Tulane defensive back Randy Lee.

Howard joins Glover on the West squad while Mayo Smith Roberts and Lee all join Rotella on the East.

Sidney Coach To Scottsbluff

Scottsbluff (AP) — John N. (Jack) Stewart who guided Sidney High School to the runnerup spot in the state Class B basketball tournament last March has been hired as basketball coach at Scottsbluff High School.

Stewart, 36, succeeds Cliff Tillet, who resigned after one year to return to Goddard Kan. as high school athletic director.

The new Bearcat coach is a 13 coaching veteran including the past two years at Sidney where his teams have posted a 41-6 record and were state tournament representatives both seasons.

Hill Collects Memphis Lead

MEMPHIS (AP) — Dave Hill, who owns an unmatched history of success in this tournament repeatedly scrambled out of potential trouble and shot a three-under-par 69 for the second-round lead Friday in the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

Hill, who won this event three times in a four-year stretch, used a new putter and a new putting stroke to salvage his round with only 29 strokes on the greens as he established a two-round lead with a 137 total.

That put him seven under par for two trips over the wind-swept, 7,193-yard Colonial Country Club course and two in front of his nearest challenger Jerry McGee.

McGee, a non-winning tour regular who has been playing poorly most of the season, matched the day's best round with a 68 for a 139.

Two strokes further back was a pair of former PGA champions—Ray Floyd and Dave Stockton—who were tied for third at 141. Floyd had a 68 and Stockton a 69 in the mild, windy weather.

First round leader Dan Sikes slipped to a 75 and was in a group at 142. Also at that figure were Larry Ziegler, Australian Bob Shaw, John Schlee and Mike Hill. Dave's younger brother Ziegler and Shaw matched 68s. Schlee had a 69 and Hill a par 72.

Defending titleholder Lee Trevino had three birdies and as many bogeys in his par round, and at 143 was one-under-par and six back of Hill.

Hill, who has used only 37 putts in 36 holes, said he was using a putter lifted out of J.C. Snead's locker and a new putting stroke.

"I call it the 'Over 40 grip,'" Hill said. "I put my right forefinger down the shaft, like those guys over 40 do who are losing their nerves."

He said he acquired the putter two days ago. "J.C. had about three of them in his locker. I just took one. He's going to have a hard time getting it back."

Hill, a wiry intense veteran of 15 years on the pro tour, said the putter was all that was saving him. He described his swing as "horrible. If they'd had out of bounds stakes out there, I'd have been out at least twice," he said.

He also missed five greens, but had only a single bogey. He saved par three other times with putts of about 10 feet and chipped up to about five feet on the other one.

A long hitter despite his relatively small size, Hill two-putted one par five for a birdie, made a pair of birdie putts of about 10 feet and holed another one from about 15.

He missed four times on birdie attempts of 10 feet or less.

Hill, who scored the last of his nine tour victories in the 1972 Monsanto Open, had his best showing this season with a second-place finish in the Los Angeles Open.

Alliance Captures Crown

Alliance captured the Class B Grass Greens golf crown at Holmes Park Friday afternoon despite the efforts of a pair of Cozad golfers.

Cozad's Mike Hecox and Dean Sukup finished in a first-place tie for medalist honors. Hecox won the honor on the second hole of a sudden-death playoff.

Tim Borg of Alliance finished third at 75 and Alliance's John Becker (77) and Mark Watson (78) finished in eighth and ninth respectively.

Alliance (309) outdistanced Cozad (318) by nine strokes. Sidney was third at 325 while defending champion Wahoo (339) finished eighth.

Get-in-Shape Net Meet Set

The Get-in-Shape tennis tournament sponsored by the Lincoln Tennis Association and the Parks & Recreation Department will be held at Woods Park courts during the weekend of June 2-3. This tournament is open to all residents of Lincoln and full-time students residing in Lincoln during the summer.

The tournament will consist of singles events only. Each contestant will be limited to one event. Each match will consist of a pro set.

Entry fees and applications are to be received no later than noon Tuesday May 29th. No entry will be accepted after that date. The entry fee must accompany the entry application. Applications may be picked up at the Parks and Recreation Dept. and local sporting goods stores.

Sooner Question Set Ahead

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — The Big Eight Conference postponed action Friday in the football recruiting irregularities case involving the University of Oklahoma.

Conference Commissioner Charles M. Neinas, who made the announcement, said the faculty representatives, the league's governing body, were continuing their investigation. "Should such investigation be concluded in time," Neinas said, "the faculty representatives and athletic directors will hold a special meeting in Chicago Aug. 7."

Oklahoma, through Athletic Director Wade Walker, announced a month ago it had used an ineligible football player in 1972 varsity competition and was forfeiting nine games as a result.

Oklahoma was ranked No. 2 nationally and won the conference championship. Included in the forfeits was a Sugar Bowl victory over Penn State.

Walker said every game in which freshman quarterback Kerry Jackson played must be regarded as a forfeit whether it was a victory or a loss.

Walker said the specific violation included tampering with the high school transcripts of Jackson and Mike Phillips, both of Houston. Both were declared ineligible for Oklahoma athletics for one year.

Jackson was likely the starting quarterback for the Sooners this coming season.

Walker said Bill Michael, of fensive line coach, had admitted he had knowledge of the transcript irregularity. The school requested and received Michael's resignation.

Neinas in announcing the faculty representatives were taking no immediate action on Oklahoma's forfeiture, pointed out there have been some cases in the Big Eight where the conference declined to accept forfeitures.

Neinas said the conference was keeping the National Collegiate Athletic Association advised of its initial findings. The NCAA will convene in Chicago Aug. 6-7.

I have no other comment, Neinas said, "except that we will make an effort to complete the investigation by August."

It was determined the entire matter should be considered at one time and not piecemeal.

Other action taken by the representatives.

Amended conference rules to permit scheduling of three freshman football games away from home in alternate years, effective in 1973.

Granted permission to the football coaches to consider the possibility of using a junior varsity team in place of a freshman team during the 1973 season.

Voted to donate $8,000 to the United States Collegiate Sports Council to help finance this country's participation in the World University Games in Moscow Aug. 15-25.

Reviewed proposed reorganization of the NCAA into three legislative divisions. Neinas said the Big Eight supports the reorganization idea although it may not completely agree with the plan as developed by the NCAA Council.

Passed a resolution commending Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., for his interest in legislation affecting college athletics.

Golf Qualifying Set For Junior Meet

Because of a conflict with the Lincoln Junior Boys tournament, the State Junior qualifying has been moved from June 18 as previously indicated to June 11 at Holmes Golf Park.

Contestants should contact Bob Schuchart at Holmes or Ed Smith, MAGA official in Lincoln.

LNE Beats LSE, 5-3, To Take District Title

By STEVE GILLISPIE
Star Sports Writer

Lincoln Northeast took advantage of a disastrous fifth inning by Lincoln Southeast Friday afternoon at Sherman Field to win the district baseball title, 5-3.

The Rockets, now 8-6, will now play late Monday afternoon at Ralston in the state tournament, while the Knights finished the season 12-3.

In the fateful fifth inning Northeast sent nine players to bat and collected two hits to score four runs.

However, Southeast committed five errors and two on one play in the fifth to break up a close game.

After Greg Smith struck out to start out the fifth, winning pitcher Bob Sampson walked and advanced to second base as Jim Tomasek was safe on LSE third baseman Bill Kane's error.

Terry Dopp then singled up the middle scoring Sampson but Knight centerfielder Paul Haas threw trying to get Sampson was off allowing Tomasek to go to third.

Losing pitcher Jim Thompson retrieved Haas' errant throw and promptly tossed the ball into left field allowing Tomasek to score and Dopp to advance to third.

Scott Votava then struck out before Marty Shields doubled off the right field fence to score Dopp.

Next up was Doug Pillard and his hard ground ball was bobbled by Kane. Kane's relay got by first baseman Steve McManaman scoring Shields on another error.

The only errors the Knights committed were in the decisive fifth.

"We know how Southeast feels because we've had the same thing happen to us in district," Northeast coach LeRoy Seng said.

We just got the ball to bounce our way in the fifth and played pretty good ball.

The loss was Thompson's first this season and was the first administered by the Rockets. The Knights had beaten Northeast 4-2 and 8-2 during the regular season.

Seng thought a key in the early going was the second inning when Southeast had two runners on base, no outs and didn't score.

McManaman started that inning by walking and Steve Mills followed with a double before Don Weber struck out.

Les Buckley then hit a smash back through the pitcher's box that would have scored two runs because the Rocket infield was drawn in but Sampson lunged backwards off-balance and caught the ball.

Sampson regained his balance, made sure the runners didn't advance and threw out Buckley. Thompson then struck out the side.

Not only did we not let Southeast score but also we came back in our next at-bats to score a run. Seng pointed out.

The trip to state is the Rockets' first under Seng who's in his eighth year as LNE's baseball coach.
